

Southfield High Southfield Seniors Get Own Luncheon

By BARBARA TROY, JOHN COUP and JEFF ZATELL

Southfield seniors, unsatisfied with only a senior parking lot, recently acquired their own private luncheon room. It's located at the back of the student cafeteria and is separated from the rest of the lunchers by a folding yellow curtain. A large black board bears the warning, "Seniors Only!"

When our reporters hand their notes to instructor Richard Welch, he passes them on to the presby. he signs makes a few editorial changes or corrections. This week we had an interesting item followed by a note signed "R.W." We'll leave it up to the reporter to solve the mystery next week.

"See No Evil," "Hear No Evil," and "Speak No Evil" are the famous monkeys, are being portrayed by students Don Symons, Tom Trotman, and Len Spier. Each day before the start of Beaumont Brewbaker's 6th hour chemistry class the boys sit cross-legged and imitate the famous trio.

Then followed the note signed "R.W." "I suppose this is o.k. but it's rather pointless unless we find out why they set like their ancestors. This would, however, be a fine time to arrange teacher-parent conferences."

Southfield's city government is to be taken over soon by a group of Southfield high students.

Members of the school's government classes, the students will rule Southfield for one day, Monday, Nov. 10, as the city observes Youth Appreciation Week.

A student election, Nov. 5 will determine the executive officers of mayor, clerk, treasurer, municipal judge, associate judge and council members. Following a student assembly Monday, the new city officials will take the balance of the day at the city hall learning their new jobs under the guidance of their counterparts.

Apprentice offices such as police and fire chief, will be filled by the elected student officials.

The Optimist Club will sponsor a dinner for the group and the students will attend a regular council meeting to complete the day.

"We feel this will give valuable practical experience in government at the city hall learning their new jobs under the guidance of their counterparts."

Barnum JHS Barnum Radio Workshop Presents Play

By PATSY GORDON

Barnum's radio workshop class, under the direction of Mrs. Bigelow, presented its first production Tuesday, acting in "Three Cheers for Rodney," a teenage comedy written by Diane Lerminey, Sally Ringwald, Joyce Rogers, Carol Hogg, John Barry, Ron Mourin, David MacAdam, George John, Jim Forster, Dan Bungee, Jim Haas, John Arnold, Paul Kokoske, Pat McHugh, and Sam McCormick. Handing sound and music were Nancy French, Joan McAb, Linda Houser, Meredith Wheatley and Sharon Green. Linda Heydon and Jim McKey worked on publicity.

In recognition of Fire Prevention Week, Bill Schomaker, Safety Commissioner planned and executed a fire drill. The drill took place Oct. 16. The rehearsal was held in one minute and forty seconds. Bill hopes, if possible, to reduce this time to one minute. Fire Marshall Scott came to check out drill procedures.

The President's club, composed of homeroom presidents, has had several meetings. This club organized and sponsored the Barnum Torch Drive Fair which was held Oct. 24. The purpose of this fair was to raise money for the United Foundation. Helping with the fair were members of the National Junior Honor Society.

Seventh grade homeroom president is Diane Harrington. Bill Fuller, Susan Young, Alan Nofly, Paul Smith, Eric Pedersen, George Quillan, Phillip Collins, Kirk Quillan and Karen Olson.

In the eighth grade Doreen Henderson, Judy Baylow, Terry Schaefer, Kathy Klossner, Pam Ross, Mary Beth Keyser, Judy McKewen, Joe Frey, Shiraz Bishop and DeLoree Magray are members of the President's club.

Ninth grade homeroom presidents are George John, Francis Quillan, Dick Fuller, Carol Klingler, Rony Peterson, Leoni Smith, Tim Tolle, Kay Holikman, Fred Muenchinger and Tom Steding.

On Friday, Oct. 31, Barnum's annual Halloween party will be held. This party is sponsored by the merchants of Birmingham and includes movies, Keeno games with prizes, food and dancing.

Barnum has very vivacious cheerleaders this year. Under the leadership of Miss Love, these girls cheer Barnum's teams on the field.
