Maybe it's because she found she had a latent desire to be a nurse. Or, maybe now that her children are married (Chris lives in Tacoma, Wash. and Margie is with Charles Hood and mother of Mrs. Charles Hood and mother of Mrs. Charles Hood), she feels that she needs to be needed.

NOW SHE'S a member of the staff doing liaison work for the Detroit chapter.

In 1943 Mrs. Brown began her Gray Lady work by delivering mail and messages to St. Joseph's hospital patients in Pontiac. For three years she helped to feed patients, opened and closed windows, read or wrote letters, got water, and even helped nurses with charts.

Sometimes she has been "rain around" for lonely patients to talk to.

Mrs. Brown took a rest. But before long, she was back with the sick. Only this time she was Mrs. Brown's mother-in-law, in charge of 100 other Gray Ladies.

ONE OF her most treasured souvenirs of those days is from an old soldier who wrote:

"You are angels of mercy for a soul that distresses."

Mrs. Brown likes the ladies who wear the gray dresses.

Added to her hours of help in homes is her help in the hospital. She and all her starved Gray Ladies sisters are trained to stand by in the event of a disaster.

CAN ANY ONE be a Gray Lady? Well, yes... you can be a Gray Lady if you have a genuine desire to help others. There are no other conditions. You can be a Gray Lady if you have a genuine desire to help others. There are no other conditions.

THE POGUES, are ever mindful and grateful for that winter of '44 and '45 when Mimi's family had hidden Leonard and his three buddies and shared their meager food ration with them. They insisted that she and Dulee come to their homes and live while she endures to get residence papers for America and ultimately become employed in her chosen field.

So Mimi and son Dulee are now shared bread with the Pogues but under quite different circumstances. However, says Mimi, "It's often when we sit down for a meal, cannot brush away the haunting memory of the six years when our country was under German occupation and the miracle of our survival."

Meanwhile, 10-year-old Duke, busy becoming an Americanized, speaks English for his spelling lesson. For his six months in America, he speaks remarkable English but "spells" some very little ridiculous to him. Wait till he tastes it!

Kiwanis Plan Show

SOUTHFIELD—The Southfield Kiwanis club will present a musical review minstrel show, "The Road to Freedom—Then and Now." Nov. 4 and 5. It is a fund raising project for underprivileged children. Many city officials will take part in the program. A definite time and place will be announced later.

Road Work

Other problems ironed out by the council Monday included:

1. A request for removal of a dead tree near a cul de sac on Smallwood court.

2. A request that Councilman Ted Sturdivant make a survey of sidewalks needed along routes taken by children walking to school. (The move was taken at the suggestion of Mrs. Edward F. Parrish, 1500 Birchwood, who expressed concern over children walking in roads and highways to get to school.)

The council also approved purchase of a $208 traffic camera and named Wayne J. Stewart, 4707 Marshall, who is warrant officer for Birmingham, as Westwood village warrant officer. He was sworn in by Director of Public Safety Robert Murphy.
