

Gilbert Lake Wing Lake WNFCA Social Briefs Holds Meeting, Hears Speaker

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Hoagberg entertained several interesting European visitors at cocktails in their home on Burnham road last evening. Their guests are in Detroit this week attending the annual Kelvinton convention and spent yesterday on a tour of Detroit's Greenfield Village and Northland.

They also saw a bit of Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills before arriving at the Burnham's. Guests were Max West of Switzerland, O. Burkhardt of Sweden, A. Blachon, H. de Cesti, F. Mignot and R. Etienne, all of France. Later this week the Burnhams will again entertain this group and several others at cocktails and dinner.

Wing Lake — The Wing Lake Shores branch of WNFCA held its bi-monthly meeting Sept. 30 at the home of the vice-president, Mrs. Douglas Buss of Worlington road.

Financing the landscaping of one of the large courts of the new Jr. high school at Wing Lake and Quanton roads was discussed. The club has donated $100 toward this project.

Mrs. Walter Kostecki of Dakota Circle opened her home Oct. 6 for the regular monthly meeting and afternoon tea of the club.

Members then went to the home of Mrs. Edgar Debanet on Indianwood Trail to hear a talk by Mrs. Debanet on the proper pruning and shaping of evergreens.

Her Theme Beams

WESTWOOD — She wants a home with a "traffic pattern" and a "mud room" for boots and toys, Mrs. Helen Omelianoff, 16950 Birwood, wrote in an essay on "What I Want in a New Home." Her essay won her a trip to Washington, D. C. to represent the greater Detroit area at the women's conference on housing there next Tuesday through Thursday. Going over her essay with Mrs. Omelianoff is A. L. Doenges, Birmingham area builder and a director of the Builders Association of Metropolitan Detroit, which sponsored the contest. Over 200 entries were submitted in the contest. Purpose of the Washington conference is to give home builders information on housewives' likes and dislikes in the homes they run.

Franklin Firemen 'Bury' Problem

FRANKLIN — Even though its kind of hiding your light under a bushel, the Franklin volunteer fire department buried a 10,000 gallon storage tank on the site of their proposed new fire hall on Franklin road.

The first step towards a long awaited expansion program, the tank was installed last Friday to provide an additional water supply for equipment.

Lathrup School Makes Plans for 'Curriculum Fair'

LATHRUP — A "Curriculum Fair" will introduce parents to each child's teacher Oct. 14 at 7 p. m. in the individual classrooms of the Lathrup school.

The teachers, in turn, will acquaint parents with the curriculum, materials, and texts for the coming year and answer any general questions regarding the school and classroom set-up.

ALTHOUGH the initial filling will be made of water pumped from the Franklin river, the supply will be maintained by a well now servicing the Frixen Service gas station.

The tank will assure an adequate water supply when icy weather makes maneuvering trucks on hills near other water sources impractical.

FOLLOWING the curriculum fair the parents will be welcomed in the auditorium at 8:30 p. m. by Lathrup's new PTA president, Mrs. Gordon Henderson. Following a brief business meeting, Mrs. Helen M. McIntyre, director of elementary education on the Southfield public schools, will speak on "Southfield Elementary Curriculum, Present and Future."

Wing Lake Foxcroft Officials Schedule Meeting, Election Oct. 14

Dr. and Mrs. Watson Gilpin and daughter, Susan, and Mrs. W. R. Cole and daughter, Paula, will spend Sunday at Arcoha, Ont., and along the shore of Lake Huron and at Kettle Point on the lake.

This was one of the fall nature study trips conducted annually by Walter F. Nickell of Cranbrook Institute of Science. Some 20 carloads of people met at the institute and spent the afternoon in search of various kinds of rocks and stones on the lake.

At Kettle Point on Lake Huron, the group stopped to see the huge rock formations in the water which are some of the oldest rocks in the world. They are huge rounded formations in the water which are the shape of the big round iron kettles used for making maple syrup. Some of these rocks have broken through the years and visitors are permitted to look for chunks of them. There are also pieces of petrified wood to be found here.

In preparation for the women's division of the Torch Drive, Wing Lake area chairman, Mrs. R. E. Bohner, is soliciting of this area at coffee Sept. 30 at the home of Mrs. John Doyle of Worlington road. Mrs. Doyle is a district chairman.

Solicitors present were mesdames Curtis Snider, Fred Keller, Frederick Milburn, Allen Germann, Richard Castle, Fred Keller, Ralph Healer, W. D. Pittman, Jr., and S. C. MacFarlane.

Mrs. Julia's Pochon, area chairman of the Torch Fund held a morning coffee yesterday at her home on Muirfield for solicitors mesdames Heber Risk, Randall Crabbe, Albert Remington, Glen James, Jack Edington, Ralph Minke, James Allen, David Robinson and Charles Dunham.

Dorman "Corkie" Dickerson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Doreen Dickerson of Wing Lake road celebrated his eleventh birthday Saturday at a barbecue luncheon and theater party for friends.

Guests were Mike and Kit Sloman, Lloyd Engel, Alvin Graham, John Gillette, Gary and Dick Hays, Wally and Rosy Stecker, Sandy Truesdell, Albert Richter and John Thornburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd C. Wells moved last week from Rose dale Park to their new residence on Sunningdale, in Wing Lake, formerly owned by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Darling.

Wells, formerly with Sealtest company, is in real estate business.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Foerster, formerly of Grosse Pointe Park, moved last week into their new residence on Sunningdale, formerly owned by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ball.

The Foerstlers came to Detroit one year ago from Philadelphia. He is zone manager for Oldsmobile.

They are both ardent golf enthusiasts and she enjoys bowling and bridge.

He is a graduate in finance of Penn State University and is affiliated with Kappa Delta Rho fraternity.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Richards and daughter, Janet, of Thurber road arrived home from a vacation in the southwest just in time for Janet to leave for Michigan State university, where she is beginning her sophomore year.

They vacationed in Belen, N. M., where they visited Mrs. Richard's mother, Mrs. June W. Black who she hadn't seen for eight years and to visit her sister and family, Mrs. Vincent Petrillo and her brother and family, Wayne Walkenback, all of Belen.

During their stay, they made several interesting side trips including a day at Tijuana, Mexico. One of their most memorable experiences was visiting "Sky City," an isolated Indian village atop a mesa. To get there it is necessary to climb the steep rock sides of a mesa with only small indentations in the rock for the hands to grip.

This climb is practically straight up and very exhausting. The people living there are existing under the most primitive circumstances. They have no electric telephone or modern conveniences. Their only water supply is that of a stream running down through a sand strip which filters the water.

The Richards went sight-seeing in the famous Auberquerque and visited Santa Fe.

Their trip out and back was made by train.
