

B'ham, Cranbrook Meet For 16th Time Tomorrow

Bloomfield Hills Eleven Opens Season at Brighton

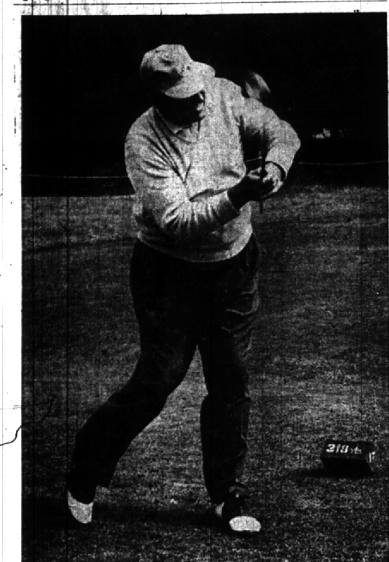

Birmingham and Cranbrook renew their 30-year-old gridiron rivalry tomorrow night in the opener of the 1958 football season.

The meeting, at 8 p.m. on the Birmingham field, will be the 16th between the two schools.

Cranbrook has won just four of the previous 15 Crane-Maple tussles.

The last Crane triumph over Birmingham came 20 years ago, a 7-0 win in 1938.

Bloomfield Hills, meanwhile, opens its campaign at 8 p.m. for the first time in 1958. It was the first year the Cranes held a game at Brighton. The Barons have eight games on their variety sched-

ALL FIVE of those games, however, have been close affairs. There have been no ties in the 15 games previously played. Worst shelling was administered by Birmingham in 1941, 45-0.

Friday's Bloomfield Hills-Brighton clash opens the Barons' second year in the Wayne-Oakland League. The Hills will play an eight game schedule this fall. Their second skirmish is at home, with Northville Oct. 3. All home games—there are four on the sked—begin at 8:30 p.m.

THE REMAINING Baron schedule:

Oct. 10—Clarensville; Oct. 17—at Milford, 8 p.m.; Oct. 24—at Holly, 8 p.m.; Oct. 31—Clarkston; Nov. 14—at Oak Park, 3:30 p.m.

The Bloomfield Hills Junior varsity has six games carded, the opener with Brighton at home Sept. 30. Other JV games include: Oct. 7—at Northville, 7 p.m.; Oct. 14—at Clarensville, 7 p.m.; Oct. 21—Milford, Oct. 28—Holly; Nov. 11—at Clarkston, 7 p.m. Junior varsity home games are also at 8:30 p.m.

In California Tourney

Tom Draper of Birmingham tees off at Pebble Beach, Calif., in practice prior to this week's California amateur golf championship there. Draper was co-medalist in the event in recent years and went to the semi-finals of the tournament, the largest state meet in the country. The tourney began Monday and ends Sunday.

Jay Gridders Open Without 3 Regulars

By JOHN COUP
Sports Correspondent

In spite of the fact three top Jays are not playing this season, Southfield gridders stepped off to a good start Saturday when they defeated Pontiac, 19-6, in a pre-season scrimmage at Pontiac.

The passing was clicking well and Bob Filar proved to be a very worthy quarterback.

Probably starting lineup for the opener with Royal Oak Kimball tomorrow at 3:30 p.m. at Southfield is as follows: center, Dave Manring; guards, Dick Jusino and Ron Granda; tackles, Louis Calender and Rick Scott; ends, Dave Sengstack and Paul Bivalva; quarterback, Bob Filar; and fullback Bill McKeown.

As of last week, the backlogs were yet to be determined.

SITTING-IT OUT this season will be No. 1 fullback Jim McDonald, with a fractured hand; end, Del Delaney, with a fractured toe; and center, Tom Bidey, who underwent a spinal disk operation last spring. McDonald and Delaney received these fractures in a recent dummy scrimmage.

As for the Jays' reserve squad, Coach Joe Fagan says, "The line-up is indefinite as the first cut has not been made yet."

"We hope to get a conference championship this year," said Southfield cross-country coach Bernhardt Brewbaker last week.

B'ham Bowler Gets Triple

Joe Kiley, bowling with the Torrence Oil Co team in the Birmingham Bowling, owns the first unique series of the yet younging pin season.

Kiley rolled a triplicate—201, 201, 201—last Wednesday night.

Would Increase Bird Sanctuary

LANSING—The state conservation commission is considering this week the establishment of a 975-acre waterfowl sanctuary at Fish Point wildlife area on Sebewing bay.

The sanctuary would provide additional resting and feeding sites for migrating ducks and geese in a heavily hunted area. It is hoped this protection will hold birds in the vicinity of public hunting grounds and add to hunting opportunity.

THE NEW sanctuary, along with the existing 1,000-acre refuge at Wildfowl bay, would provide some three square miles of sanctuary in an area of approximately 50 square miles of public hunting grounds.

Put Me Down!

The big and the small of Central Michigan college's football squad this fall. John Forster, 6-foot 4-inch freshman, lineman from Birmingham, who tips the scales at 246 pounds, easily picks up little John Rollins, 5-3 and 150 pounds. Forster has claimed a starting berth at center with the Chippewas, beating out two returning lettermen. Central opened at Marquette with Northern Michigan college last weekend.

Year-Round Bass Season A Possibility

LANSING—A year-round bass fishing season with no size limit may be in the future for Michigan anglers.

Experiments on several lower peninsula lakes indicate bass populations could be liberalized without damaging populations of this species.

Five years of experimental work with liberalized bass regulations has produced encouraging news for anglers.

On Bear lake, Manistee county; Pontiac lake, Oakland county; and Whitmore lake, Wadsworth township, bass populations, with no closed season on largemouth and small-

Area Youth Takes Field Trial Honors

A Bloomfield Village boy, 14-year-old Paul Wilson, and his German shepherd "Buddy," captured third place honors last weekend in the Detroit Times field trials near Walled Lake.

Paul is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Julian B. Wilson, 135 Waddington.

a line... from les

You might say that the Lions never gave Tom Tracy a real chance.

In his two seasons with the Detroit club, the Birmingham "bomb" carried the ball just 28 times.

Had one moment of glory... and only one. He was the two-touchdown hero of last fall's western division championship game at San Francisco.

The Lions needed him then, what with injuries to a couple of their top backs.

But Tracy's "importance" to the Detroit stadium crew was short-lived. He hardly got off the bench in the world title clash the next week with Cleveland.

Possibly the Lions had too much outstanding talent on hand to worry about a home-town lad.

At any rate, when time for this year's roster cut came around, the Detroit bossmen decided they'd like to see more of a rookie back from small southern college.

Tracy was the one who had to step aside.

A spectacular all-star in 1951 under Coach Vince Sczoniter at Birmingham High, the "bomb" has had a hectic gridiron life since his prep days.

His freshman college year was spent at Pasadena City Junior college in California.

University of Tennessee was Tracy's next stop, and his two football seasons there were sensational ones. In 1954 he was named to the all-Southeastern conference team, picked by the Associated Press as a back of the week and won all-American mention.

But in the spring of his junior year at Tennessee he ran into scholastic troubles.

Faced with a year of ineligibility, Tracy quit college and signed with the Ottawa Roughriders of the Canadian league.

There was no love lost then between the NFL and the Canucks, and Tracy's decision to play across the border just added fuel to the verbal war between the two grid footballers.

Tracy stuck it out one year with the Roughriders, then decided he didn't like the Canadian version. He joined the Lion camp as the '56 campaign opened.

His first year with Detroit the "bomb" carried the ball just 12 times for 122 yards.

Last year Tracy carried on 16 occasions, gaining 46 yards for a 2.9 average.

He accomplished more in that one lone chance at fame—against San Francisco—than in the rest of his two-year stint with the Lions.

He scored twice, once on a 58-yard jaunt. The Detroit press credited him with single-handedly sparking Detroit's spectacular triumph.

Birmingham's great is now sporting a Pittsburgh Steeler uniform. And he's back together with his former boss, Buddy Parker.

This could be Tracy's chance to prove he is top pro timber.

Let's hope the Steelers give him a chance.

Growth rates for various species of fish vary greatly, with annual growth somewhat proportionate to adult size. Northern pike, for example, may grow eight to 17 or more inches in the first year while bluegills and sunfish gain an average of three inches or less in the same period.

SPECIAL OFFERING FUND FOR ADULT EDUCATION COURSES

(In cooperation with Michigan State University)

BOTANY FOR THE GARDENER

Fee $12—Monday

A practical course in unifying the home grounds. This series of lectures and demonstrations is intended for those who are sincerely interested in landscaping their home grounds and in developing attractive flower gardens. There will be an emphasis upon the practical and useful, but at the same time, opportunity will be given for participants to widen their horizons of knowledge and appreciation regarding botanical aspects of gardening. Appropriate reference materials will be supplied as the course develops and questions and discussions will be invited.

Instructor—Henry L. R. Chapman

The botany course will be taught by Henry L. R. Chapman, America's professor of botany at Michigan State University. Mr. Chapman is a graduate of the School of Botany and Horticulture, Kew Botanic Gardens, London, England. He has traveled widely in America, Europe, and the Near East; and for nearly 25 years was superintendent of the Best Botanic Gardens at Michigan State University. He is a Fellow of the Royal Horticultural Society, London, England, and a national instructor for the Federal Garden Club of America.

PHILOSOPHERS AND SOCIETY— PART I—PLATO AND THE ANCIENT WORLD

Fee $12—Wednesday

This course is organized around the principal that certain philosophical works are monumental because they are timeless. They deal with basic questions of ethical and social thinking which are as alive today as when they were written. Mature adults, therefore, given carefully selected readings and a skillful teacher, find in these monumental works, both in terms of their historical significance and the way they address themselves to timeless, debate-demanding issues. This course is the first unit of a three part course and will deal with the ideas of Plato and others of his time. Although couched as an integral whole, persons will find it profitable to enroll in any one unit.

Instructor—Dr. William J. Callaghan

The course will be taught by William J. Callaghan of the Philosophy Department of Michigan State University. Dr. Callaghan has taught informal courses in the Adult Education Department of Queens College and New York University where he offered courses in the History of Philosophy, the History of Ideas, and the Inter-Relationships Among Social Theories. He is a philosopher who views his subject the realistic light of modern industrial society, since his work experience includes drafting and production supervision during World War II. Dr. Callaghan has recently returned from a sabbatical leave in Europe where he spent six months at the University of Bologna and in study and travel in France and England.
