Album of the Week

Title: Nel Blu Dipinto Di Blu
Artist: Domenico Modugno

"Poor Boy," rated as an A record last week, has broken into the top ten of Birmingham and Detroit with tremendous speed. Because the disc-jockeys have given the record such a backing, "Poor Boy" is the hottest selling record in the Detroit area. "Nine More Miles (The Faster, Faster Song)" has also made its initial appearance very surprisingly.

"Bird Dog" and "Volare" are showing signs that their reign is coming to an end as "Rockin' Robin" took first place while "You Cheated," "We Have Love," "It's All in the Game," "Promise Me Love," and "Poor Boy" have moved up and could be first place contenders next week.

Elvis Presley has not had no less than 19 straight million sellers. His record albums "King Creole" and "Elvis' Golden Records" are number 11 and 21, while he has five extended plays in the top ten E.P.'s. They are "King Creole Vol. 1," "King Creole Vol. 2," "Jailhouse Rock," "Loving You," and "Elvis." "Hard Headed Woman" is currently number 78 in the Nation.

As a result of rock 'n' roll the Sun Record company has become one of the most successful of the smaller companies. Primarily interested in country and western music, Sun has employed such stars as Johnny Cash, Carl Perkins, Gene Vincent, and their greatest find, Elvis Presley. Johnny Cash, who has been on the top one hundred list for more than a year, has been sold to Columbia. Sun presently holds exclusive rights with Jerry Lee Lewis, one of the upcoming singers in the nation.

Although the record has been out for quite a few weeks, I think "Win Your Love For Me" by Sam Cooke will gradually break into the top ten.

New School Opens Doors For 1st Time

By CHRIS GRYSN

(Editor's note: Bloomfield Hills junior high school is in the process of organizing its activities. This column is an introduction to the school and will be supplemented by news briefs in the following weeks.)

The new Bloomfield Hills junior high school, located at the corner of West Quanton and Wing Lake roads, is indeed a gem among schools.

The size of the site is 25 acres and the school itself covers 74,000 sq. ft. The total cost, including the site, building, furnishings and fees is $1,686,000.

THE GYM AREA, allied arts, library, cafeteria and offices are at the front of the building. The academic area is at the rear. A great deal of the school is mainly glass for economical reasons and because it makes the school brighter.

There are also several enclosed outside courts to provide learning areas, exhibition and recreation spaces.

The school has been planned for future additions, including a swimming pool and extra classrooms. All provisions have been made for these additions.

The school's color theme is also something to remark about. Colors are various shades of brown. The same colored chalk boards and lockers blend into the scheme nicely.

The cafeteria is done in various shades of blue and green. Throughout the corridors can be seen different colored doors and panels.

THE PRESENT capacity of the school is approximately 600 students and 500 possible in the future. There are about 30 students to a class.

Bloomfield junior high has won two national and one state award. Renderings and plans are being exhibited now in Washington, D. C. as an outstanding example of contemporary school design.

Counselors' Jobs Growing in Scope And Importance

ANN ARBOR — Twenty years from now, high school counselors will be expected to furnish parent and pupil information about all types of work and training opportunities—not just advice on who should go to college, predicts Claude A. Eggersten, professor of education at the university of Michigan.

He points out that it's generally agreed that the college population will be twice its present size by 1970.

"In view of this, although many high schools now employ a full or part-time person to consult with students who express an interest in college, it is quite clear that the time and energy devoted to the task will have to be greatly increased," he asserts.

"High school counselors, under pressure of a doubled number of students in higher education, will have to study the abilities and interests of each student, to confer with him, to help him make a decision, and aid him in carrying it out."

"The counselor will use a variety of data to help the student and his parents determine what next steps to take to achieve satisfaction in all phases of life activity."

'Oh, You Kid!'

"Twenty-two skiddoo!" not only connotes the period of this wedding gown, but crystallizes the reason why Judy Young, Shrine High student, was chosen to wear it for the 'Fashion, Fads and Fancies' show. Her tiny 22 inch waistline fit perfectly into the cotton batiste ensemble that she will model at the Goodwill Industries fashion show Sept. 30 at Shrine high school.

counseling and in order to make changes in its course of study. "On the other hand, some of the energy and ingenuity which might otherwise be used in the making, recording, and interpreting of entrance examinations will be saved. If counseling costs finally amount to more than examining ones, however, they might be thought of as well spent if the counselor, as he should, helps the pupil decide which of many roads to follow, instead of announcing as examiners so frequently have had to do, that a particular road is closed."

Honeymooners Travel To Boca Raton, Fla.

St. Hugo of the Hills was the scene of the ceremony at noon Saturday which united in marriage Jo Ann Luane Geitz and John R. Goggin.

The bride wore a full length gown of ivory silk taffeta with alencon lace outlining the scoop neckline and appliqued on the slim-fitting long sleeved bodice and skirt. The full skirt ended in a chapel train. A fingertip veil of silk illusion fell from a crown of matching lace and seed pearls and she carried two bouquets.

Jo Ann is the daughter of the Donald R. D'Onofrio of Stonycroft, Bloomfield Hills, and John is the son of Mrs. Edward J. Goggin of Ft. Lauderdale.

MAID of honor was Darlene Dunker and bridesmaid, Beverly Watson. They wore peacock peau de soie frocks with harem skirts and carried rubrum lilies and ivy. John, Tarkington was best man. Seating the guests were David Kennedy and Edward Goggin, Jr. The bride's mother wore a copper lace over taffeta sheath and the groom's mother chose a beige satin sheath.

To start her trip, the new Mrs. Goggin wore a black and white tweed suit with black accessories. Upon return they will make their home in Cincinnati.

Shining Blue Bird Members to Meet

Members of the Shining Blue Birds, a newly formed group from Pembroke and Holy Name schools, are Lewis Booth, Diana Denn, Cindy Gregersen, Wendy Grayman, Holly Husted, Kay Kaufman, Donna Moore, Carol Motzenbecker, Susanne Murphy, Betty Sharpard, Alice Silley and Carmel Ann Walz. The Shining Blue Birds will meet Tuesday at 8 p.m. at Pembroke school to form a new group. A short talk with slides will be given by Mrs. Lawrence King to acquaint the mothers with the Camp Fire Girls program and organization. Everyone interested in Camp Fire Girls in Birmingham is cordially invited.

Birthdays, anniversaries, guests, births, parties are all news-call the society editor about them.
