Medical Mirror WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT:

- Itchy Skin
- Gland Trouble

Q. "For about thirty minutes after I take a bath I itch all over. What causes this?"
A. It could be due to a number of things such as allergic sensitivity to heat or cold, type of soap used, hardness of the water, or dryness of the skin. Try applying a light coating of mineral or vegetable oil before bathing. Change the temperature of the water used. If cold baths have been taken, switch to warm. If this helps, gradually go back to cold water and vice versa. Change to a different brand of soap. If these simple measures fail, consult your family doctor or a dermatologist.

Q. Don't you think most fat people are overweight because of gland trouble?"
A. The glands seem to play only a small role in obesity. The problem of obesity is many-sided. Heredity and environment are important and even stress plays a part. Take the case of the slim father and daughter and obese mother and son. The father had a nervous breakdown and this worried the daughter no end. Father and daughter, already slim, lost more weight. The overweight mother and son worried about the father, too but their reaction to tension and anxiety took the form of "nervous eating" and they gained weight. The family situation (environment) was exactly the same but the fat ones became fatter and the thin ones thinner. The overweight problem is so complex that it is no wonder doctors consider obesity a disease of human nature and son. The father had

Lt. Robert Jones Wed In Kansas City Rites

The marriage of Eva Jean Retherford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin R. Retherford, and Lt. Robert Clyde Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jones of Wing Lake, took place on April 4 at St. Peter's Catholic church in Kansas City, Mo. Magr. James P. Nichol officiated at the rites.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white silk organza over cell blue taffeta. The rose cluster Chantilly lace bodice was marked by a Sabrina neckline and short scalloped sleeves. The full skirt cascaded from a princess waistline into an aisle-wide train accented by a bustle butterfly taffeta bow.

A pearl beaded coronet held the illusion veil. Flowers were orchids and stephanotis.

Sut Retherford was maid of honor and Dorothy Jones served as bridesmaid. They wore contrasting gowns of fall blue and carried bouquets of white gladioli and ivy with matching handbags.

Donald Jones stood as best man and Stephen Retherford was a groomsman. Donald Aggeler and Edward were ushers.

A reception was held at the home of the bride. After a short wedding trip the couple will be at home in Bermuda where Lt. Jones is stationed with the U. S. Navy.

Accompanying the parents to their brother's wedding were Dorothy and Donald Jones.

Alumnae Group Organizes Here

Birmingham women of Wayne graduates are meeting to organize the first suburban women's alumnae group. The meeting is set for Tuesday at 8 p.m., Birmingham Community House. Program includes a coffee and get-together, followed by pictures and a talk by Homer D. Strong, director of alumnae relations, on the growth and future of the university.

The alumnae office of Wayne State released a list of more than three hundred women graduates residing in the Birmingham area, according to Dorothy Moor, alumnae secretary. Si Darling heads up the general committee for suburban organizations.

Birmingham Wayne State alumnae who have worked out plans for this first meeting are Doris Woodworth, Roushamp, Ruth E. Hartman, Peggy Pettit, Mary Ritter, Gladys Schlack, Marjorie Sullivan, Mary Thurber and Marion Tate.

The group plans for educational, social, recreational and community activities.
