

Magazine Features Area Students In Picture Feature

Nancy Brown, 18378 Bedford, Beverly Hills, is one of a group of Albion college students featured in the September issue of "Togetherness," a mid-month Methodist magazine for families.

The pictorial feature which portrays Miss Brown among other art students painting by the Kalamazoo river, illustrates the point of the article that "art is for everybody—and it's certainly nothing to be afraid of!"

Methodist related Albion is cited as an example of the stress placed on acquaintance with art in higher education. The article points out that more than half of the 1,800 students complete at least one art course before graduation.

Other local students included in the color pictures accompanying the article are Liz and Marion York, Southfield and Dave Roat of Troy.
