

Biel-Crawford Repeat Vows Saturday Evening

Ellen Marlene Crawford and Kent Mellor Biel exchanged vows Saturday evening at Lutheran Redeemer church in Birmingham. The Rev. Theodore Wuggazer performed the candlelight ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen G. Crawford of W. Brown street, Birmingham. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Garli Biel of Terre Haute, Ind.

THE BRIDE wore a white pure silk gown designed with three-quarter sleeves, V-neckline edged with lace and long train with appliques of lace and seed pearls which bustled the train slightly. A crown of lace and seed pearls secured her fingertip veil of silk illusion. An axon lilies and stephanotis made up her cascade. Mrs. Dinty Crawford of Stanley street, Birmingham, was honor attendant. Sarah Ann Taylor of Dearborn, Carol Pike of Royal Oak and Mrs. George Schmidt of Detroit, were bridesmaids.

THEIR DRESSES were fashioned of champagne chiffon with full skirts, sabrina necklines and sleeveless. They wore fitted hats of toast feathers with circular champagne veils and carried cascades of yellow and bronze furl mums.

Thompson Weber of Terre Haute was asked to be best man. Ushers were Daniel G. Crawford of Birmingham, Ronald Eschenberg of Mt. Clemens and Thomas Cook of Detroit.

$550 $750 $1050

These three rings are actual stock rings. Their approximate weight is one carat, although they may vary from .96 pts to 1.03 cts.

We present the same type of price variation in 3/4 ct. and 1/2 ct. diamonds.

To the layman, all three diamonds will appear the same, but to the expert, there is a very definite reason for the price difference.

There is no charge for shopping. We invite you to investigate the true reasons for drastic price differences.
