Carol King Wins Honorable Mention At I. U. Institute

Carol Lynn King, 907 Riveroak, Birmingham, was among award winners at the banquet ending the yearbook division of the high school journalism institute at Indiana university recently.

I. U. President Herman B. Wells was the main speaker at the banquet attended by 240 students from 114 high schools in Indiana, Ohio, Illinois, Michigan and New York.

TWO $150 scholarships, given by The Arboret, I. U. campus yearbook, were awarded to the top students attending the two-week session.

Prof. Gretchen A. Kemp of the I. U. department of journalism, is institute director.

Miss King won an honorable mention for the scholarships and took first place for overall performance in editing.

Board of Directors To Meet Monday

The Birmingham Credit Women's Breakfast club held their August meeting at the home of Mrs. Donald Harris, club treasurer, at the Harris' new Wolverine Lake home.

A picnic supper was served on the lawn overlooking the lake.

A social evening followed a brief business discussion conducted by Jean Carr, president. Mrs. Carr will have the board of directors meeting in her home on Hanna street Aug. 24. At that time plans for the new Fall program will be formulated.

WHEN YOU REMODEL your home by adding an extra room, let windowwalls of Andersen Casement Picture Window Units bring you window beauty.

These fine wood window units will capture a view, flood the new room with sunlight and fresh air. Simultaneously they will wall out unpleasant weather.

Why not call us today about WINDOWWALLS?

L. I. T. Sets Registration Deadline

SOUTHFIELD—New students must file applications before Tuesday, August 25—only a few days away—for admission this fall to the Lawrence Institute of Technology.

Although day and night college classes will not begin until early September, James W. Hobson, L. I. T. vice-president, said the August 25 deadline was set to assure the college of receiving the high school records of new applicants in time for processing.

Lawrence Tech recently announced it would accept a total of 600 additional new qualified students in its day and night colleges because the completion of a new maintenance building released additional space in its regular classroom units.

Health Officials Alert For Polio Increase

... as a 50 per cent up in the number of reported cases was noted.

To date, six polio cases have been reported, compared with two in the corresponding period last year.

The county health department said that four of the six stricken never had shots.

Michigan's toll in 1958 was the highest in the nation.

Mother's Chores Must Wait for A 'Carnival'

By MRS. RUTH VOGT
Special Writer

Everyone knows about the influence parents exert over children. Why isn't more written about the horrible effect offspring have on grown-ups?

Take the other Friday morning, for instance. Around ten. Hot as all get out, ironing in the basement was beckoning invitingly since it was coolest spot in the house and also because two huge baskets of dampened stuff were waiting.

Intentions were the best. To work through the two baskets. However, a few school-freak pupils had other ideas. A "Carnival" was cooking. (To be fair, no assistance was asked for, but what parent could remain below when such excitement started perking about?) Not natural.

AFTER FINISHING four shirts and three sheets in a hurry the plug was pulled and slipping upstairs the question was asked if anyone needed help?

Two batches of cupcakes were raising in the oven already and three pitchers of lemonade were cooling in the icebox; the trees in the backyard had tucked up signs on 'em telling the time when everything was to start.

"Bet" all the pennies your piggy banks hold" was printed in huge letters across each sign.

An ordinary red wagon, with the help of a little straw which a neighbor had borrowed from his dad's new seven grass, was converted into a splendid "ride." For three cents the manager lugged customers along the back lot line.

"IF YOU are careful, you may frost the cakes," the cook said as she went out to set up a fish pot and a bowl where treasures were to be purchased. ("Treasures" like three polished stones for one nickel; a cracked mirror, magic of course, for almost nothing and a pair of run down cow-boy boots that no cowboy could ever wear.)

A plain old scrub bucket made a wonderful catch-all for a few golf balls. Kids lined up to try their luck. Quite a few pitched well. Their reward? Another chance for free.

The eating business was so good that the cupcakes and lemonade went the first half hour and pop corn, sold by sandwich bags, came into play. Then apples from the ice-box. Then oranges. A dozen of 'em.

AT LAST the four bananas saved for a salad were sold. At a profit. Carnivals make customers hungry. Especially those under five.

As the cigar box filled near its top with pennies and nickels many ran home to give the piggy bank another good shake. Plain ice water, with a little orange juice added, was offered. More treasures were wrapped up.

A nature study was created and called for one cent to gaze at some fascinating looking "edible" worms and green weeds.

Everyone spent. No one complained. At night, while the performers slept the ironing was done. And washed and pressed. And household duties be never "put aside under any consideration" and tomorrow will get it done. Enjoying the things which their children bring to summer!
