

Celebrate International Communications Day

FRANKLIN—Early rains failed to dampen enthusiasm of more than 100 guests who attended an informal outdoor picnic Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Garrison, 32960 Franklin court, Franklin. Looking at the International flags and numerous posters at the International Communications Day celebration are (left) Mr. and Mrs. William B. Bachman and Charles F. Adams. Braving the brief storm under a colorful umbrella are (right) Mr. and Mrs. Garrison, host and hostess for the day. Among those who attended were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest A. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. John R. MacManus, Mr. and Mrs. Darrell C. Roberts, the Robert E. Brittons, the William B. Bachmans, Jr., the John G. Wilkinsons, the Robert J. Hestonkamps, the Stephen F. Dougherty, Mr. and Mrs. Jeremy John, Mr. and Mrs. Charles N. Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Lukacs and daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. Jay S. Lukacs. Also among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Donald F. Mahmeister, Mr. and Mrs. William G. Winchester, Mr. and Mrs. Richard P. Montley, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace J. Ehrlich, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur N. Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Carl B. Wheeler, Mr. and Mrs. Edward G. Kucera, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Caldwell and Mr. and Mrs. William J. Jacobs.

The Fred McNabb's of Apple Tree lane have been to New York and back and spent this week in Franklin, Ohio with Mrs. McNabb's parents.

The Colony Hill crowd has set Sept. 12 for their annual clam bake, a succulent outdoor affair with steam pit and seaweed garnished lobsters. However, the hosting family has not been announced pending the return of vacationing neighbors.

It remains to be seen how the Douzler men: father, Prex, and sons, Dan and John, make out this week with their canoeing trip down the Au Sable. Admittedly inexperienced, but burning with the urge to get-away-from-it-all, the three-some packed their gear and canned goods, bade farewell to the waving womenfolk.

The Bob Wallaces of Wellington kept faith with their favorite vacation spot at Belaire and spent several weeks there returning Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Young and three children are also here and accounted for, after a holiday in the East where they visited former Franklinites Mr. and Mrs. William Schellengers.

If you saw activity at the Youngs' in their absence, it was just a loyal, faithful crew of Auxiliary Franklin Volunteer Firemen who kept the fire radio going while Youngs were gone. Radio-sitting they call it.

Here from Delray Beach, Fla., are Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Post, Sr., visiting their son's family on Vinennes and checking on the progress of the Hunter's Whip tea room.

Off on a pink cloud solo last week, Carolyn LeVan winged her way westward to visit relatives in California. To be gone until the end of August, Carolyn's itinerary calls for a long holiday at Lake Tahoe.

A surprise house-warming party for the Jack Roberts family was held by eight couples Friday night to initiate Roberts' move to a temporary home on Eton road in Birmingham.

Debbie Loppnow is celebrating her fifth birthday Wednesday as soon as her mother can make arrangements for a party that's different. Feeling the same little girls have been going to the same kind of parties this summer, Mrs. Loppnow is determined to change the pattern, and that takes a little doing these days.

Eighth Annual Barbecue, Roundup Slated in Franklin

FRANKLIN—An annual resurgence of enthusiasm for the Franklin Barbecue and Roundup, Sept. 16, occurred again last Thursday as committee heads met at the home of general chairman Ralph Smith.

Full attendance marked the kick-off meeting for planning Franklin's eighth Roundup.

plays in a tent September 11, 12 and 13 by separate casts of the Junior Franklin Village Players. In rehearsal most of the summer, young actors have been working on "Pride and Prejudice" and "Nuts in May." The Franklin Community association is also sponsoring these performances.

BILL BOHLS is chairman for the day itself which will include three separate ball games, (one each for Franklin's Little baseball league, Babe Ruth league and Girls softball league) and the traditional parade through town with John Murray as parade marshal.

ARCHIE McCardell and Nick Quint will manage concessions, while Arthur Gee and Bert Coburn take charge of the food.

John Menrath is arranging for midway games as Henry Arlt and Dale Carse schedule the penny pitch and corn husking bee in the afternoon.

Mrs. Irma Davis is the representative for the Art show which will be held the same day and sponsored also by the Franklin Community association.

PROGRAMS GIVING the day schedule will be developed by Bob Hampson and Adam Schubel, Wendell Smith has agreed to handle details for the annual horse show. Officially opening the Roundup week in the village will be two

Southfield News Briefs

City Zone Change Overruled by State

SOUTHFIELD—Rezoning of land on the south side of 9 Mile, west of Northwestern for the Ira Kaufman funeral home which was twice passed by the Southfield council has been overruled by a state requirement.

Councilmen twice rezoned the land from residential to commercial by a 4 to 3 vote. City Attorney James C. Allen said a three-fourths majority is necessary when more than 20 per cent of adjoining property owners object.

Allen reported to the council Monday night that only one man,

Old School Rented For City Library

SOUTHFIELD—Southfield got at least a temporary library last week when the school board approved rental of the Brooks school 11 Mile and Lahser for a city library.

The opening of the new Evergreen junior high school next month will vacate the Brooks school. The school board voted to charge $100 per month rent.

Detroit Man Injured In Cycle-Car Crash

SOUTHFIELD—Joseph A. Convery of Detroit suffered a fractured left wrist and cuts on both legs when his motorcycle brakes failed at the corner of 8 Mile and Southfield.

Unable to stop for a red light he continued on into the intersection and collided with a car driven by another Detroit man.

Warren Reid, who owns nine acres behind the Kaufman property is needed to make up the 20 per cent objection.

8 Mile Resurfacing Planned by State

SOUTHFIELD—Approximately six miles of 8 Mile road along the southern boundaries of Ferndale, Oak Park and Southfield will be resurfaced before next summer by the state highway department. The road repair is part of 14 miles of resurfacing of 8 Mile road that is being done by the highway department at a cost of more than $600,000.
