

The Birmingham YMCA day camp at Rochester has games for everyone, including sack races as pictured above. Steve

ended up in the grass. All that effort (bottom picture) calls for a rest period and Mary Henne, 579 Lorchley, (left), Brian Carthway, 2425 Bacon, Berkeley, and Bob Perry, 492 Lorchley, welcome the opportunity to take a deep breath. And there's more than one way to get a drink of water if you watch

Bob Gray, 108 Waddington, (top) and George Whitehead, 658 Norwich, at the faucet.

News and Views

Released through popular demand, Bobby Darin has the most sparkling release of the week in "Mack the Knife," from his current best selling album, "That's All."

"Okafenkoke," a rocker by Freddie Cannon, who did so well with the similar sounding "Tallahassee," is well on his way with this one. Frankie Avalon has a good follow up to his recent duet smash with "Just Ask Your Heart." "Miss Lonely Heart," another recent release is, in my opinion ion Dodie Stevens' best to date.

The number two album this week represents the impact The Kingston Trio has had on the record business. The trio has been responsible for three big hits to date and indirectly responsible for the recent popularity of commercial folk songs. Dunn's reports that The Kingston Trio has been one of the top sellers of the year, and one of the most requested. "At Large" is an example.

Fabian the tuneless tiger, has a new movie out which should be coming to your friendly neighborhood theater soon. It at all possible, avoid seeing it.

Ray Charles, an established blues singer and jazz musician, is making it big on the pop charts with "What'd I Say" on Atlantic.

Poor Vision May Slow Student Up

Nearly 600,000 children attending school for the first time this fall will have vision defects affecting success in school work. And in thousands of these schools a large percentage of first graders will be held back due to inability to learn as fast as the rest of the class, according to the Michigan Optometric Association.

"Roughly 20% of the three million youngsters entering first grade this fall have vision defects, as indicated by past studies," states Dr. A. L. Tulos, president of the Association.

"HALF OF THESE problems can be spotted by parents or teachers. The other half, however, will escape cursory detection because they don't show."

According to the optometrist, too many children today must struggle through school to the sixth or seventh grade before getting needed professional visual care, often failing one or more grades as a result.

"When a child with visual defects competes with others in the first grade, he may find that he can't keep up with them. So he resorts to disinterest and drops to the bottom of the class."

THEN HE is in danger of being held back," Dr. Tulos claims. "The slow achievers and those children with obvious vision defects usually get professional care early, but the others often have to struggle through unaided for years."

A school child's vision should be examined every 12 months, Dr. Tulos states, especially if the child shows disinterest in school work or seems unable to keep up.
