Mrs. Rocco DiMarco, president of the Country Galleries store, 1941 Telegraph, Bloomfield Hills, and co-owner of the store with three other Bloomfield Hills women, shows a customer the latest in modern table settings. This store features one-of-a-kind items in contemporary, provincial and traditional furniture and home accessories.

Four Women Merge Talents To Form Country Galleries

Four Bloomfield Hills women have combined their various talents to form a partnership that has resulted in one of the most unique stores in the Hills.

The four, headed by Mrs. Rocco DiMarco, president, have opened the Country Galleries, 1941 Telegraph, Bloomfield Hills, which offers one-of-a-kind in contemporary, traditional and provincial home accessories and art works.

MRS. CLYDE Hagerman and Mrs. Raymond Hobrook, both vice presidents in the company; and Mrs. J. G. Shannon is the secretary-treasurer.

A DEEP interest in both provincial and contemporary home accessories brought Mrs. Hobrook into the fold and Mrs. Shannon handles the business side of the store. Interior decorating suggestions are just part of the services offered by Country Galleries along with the paintings, furniture, glassware and home accessories featured in the shop.

'Constructive Step in B'ham'—C of C Manager

Birmingham chamber of commerce manager Charles Mortenson praised the new Birmingham Credit Plate Association highly in a letter to the organization's new president, Don Cummings.

In his letter to Cummings, Mortenson said: "This represents a most constructive step, in my opinion, in making Birmingham a more convenient place to shop. It also speaks very well for the high degree of cooperation here between our merchants."

"In this and many other ways they are working actively to improve Birmingham business, I am sure that the 17,000 customers who are holders of your plates will

Sundberg-Ferar Establishes New Apprentices Plan

Establishment of an international apprentice—designer program has been announced by Sundberg-Ferar, Inc., a leading firm of industrial designers.

Completion of arrangements with the Societe Franco-American Atlantique and arrival of the first apprentice were reported by Carl Sundberg, 300 Martel, of Bloomfield Hills, and Montgomery Ferar, principals of the Detroit-based industrial design firm.

The firm is moving to a new building on 10 1/2 Mile road and Telegraph, Southfield, in the near future.

"I think you and your associates deserve a great deal of praise for all the initiative and work you have used in bringing this project about."

"I hope that you will achieve every bit of the success that this fine project deserves."

Moving to Birmingham

E. C. Hillier (left) president of the Dunn Blue Print company, and William Luther, president of the Royal Blue Print company, announced the merging of the two firms last week and will move their operations to Birmingham in the near future.
