

SEAHOLM HIGH

MAPLE MATTERS

By BIL MITCHELL

They Rarely Have Meet-less Week

We had the first assembly of December on Monday. The Alma Acapella choir, from Alma college, performed. The only representative from Seaholm was Helen Mänge, former Birmingham high school student.

The choir also sang at the Presbyterian church in Birmingham later that same evening. They sang a series of Christmas carols and other miscellaneous musical pieces.

TUESDAY WE had a pep assembly, the first of this variety, honoring the basket ball team on the eve of their first game. The assembly was unique—the students all wore white shirts or blouses. At least most of them did. As the students entered the gym they each received an unusually large "Go Maple" tag.

The teachers came in next, to play a game of basketball. Among those participating were Messrs: Perry, Pendracki, Shultz, Anderson, Lemle, Kish (alias "Crazy Legs"), Vratnina, Wynna, Del Vero, and last but not least, "Steadfast" Steinhart.

The game was more or less a farce but the teachers had a lot of fun showing off their legs. At the microphone, broadcasting the plays was Mr. Meyers, and on the floor was Mr. Newcomb, from the attendance office.

MIXED IN THIS mess was the competitive cheering of the two sides. Actually, it was the juniors against the sophomores and seniors. All this added up a very noisy and exciting assembly.

The debate team, which as far as we can figure out, is on top in the league, had another shut out against Troy high school last week. That makes for a total of sixteen points.

THE BILLBOARD

BLOOMFIELD HILLS HIGH By Mike Zweig

In the Desert; Though Oasis is Coming Fast

The time is drawing fast toward a needed Christmas rest, but last week came a storm before the lull.

Once again the long face and disillusioned talk prevailed after report cards. They marked the end of the second six-week period, leaving only four more until June.

AFTER THE WEDNESDAY card disaster, things went to the other end of the scale at an athletic honors assembly. Participants in fall sports were honored with letters and certificates.

Among those noted were Tom Maron, Ken Senteny, Goetz Klopfer, Dick Ford and Barry Armstrong, all for their outstanding cross-country records. Members of the varsity and JV football teams and of the girls field hockey team, were also singled out.

Carrying along the BHHS athletic record, the varsity basketball team upset Milford 43-28. Scoring honors remained with Tom Maron again, but the crowd cheered Don Hays also for his accurate eight-point last quarter.

BACK ON THE academic side of things, five BHHS seniors were able to take part in the MSU visiting day. Those who went by bus to East Lansing were Deanna Laughlin, Rick Clark, Renee Sinclair, Sue Woodhouse and Mike Zweig.

MSU invited the upper 10 percent of high school senior classes from throughout the state to come, talk to faculty members and tour the campus. It was most clarifying for those of us who could attend, and we thank MSU for giving us the opportunity.

Here and there: two social events of importance are in the immediate future for BHHS students. Tonight, at 7:30 begins the annual Christmas concert, to which the general public has been invited.

This coming Saturday night, Dec. 19, the student council will present its annual Christmas dance. There, plus the thought of Christmas and the vacation that comes with it, are keeping BHHS alive.

Dear Santa Claus: This is a picture of the ballerina doll I want for Christmas. Also, ironing board and iron and some dishes with flowers on it, and four.

NANCY PERTULLA

I have been a good boy all year. I would like a stuffed Huckleberry toy bear, a new bicycle, and a new car. I am sure you may have a stuffed toy bear.

Thank you, BOBBY
