

Dear Santa Claus:

I've been a good boy by helping my Ma and Daddy. Would you please bring me for Christmas a drum set. Bunch movie set, laser light shooting gun, Remco money island printer machine, set of plastic cowboy, Mackie machine gun and a cowboy suit and a shooting shell gun. I'll leave a bottle of pop on the kitchen table and you'll find my stocking on the living room drapes. I promise to be good except when you come.

Spode Cowslip

From 1790 to 1830 there were scores of artists working at the Spode factory designing new patterns to meet the growing demand for this fine ware. These men had little to inspire them except the floggers of the rolling fields around Stoke. So well did they work that the sturdy individual styles of natural floral designs which they developed will live on through all time. The simplicity and charm of Cowslip—done on the famous Chelsea Wicker shape—is an example of their work. The refreshing colors and delicate shape are correct for any period from the Traditional Georgian to the present.

Annual Yule Party

Annual Christmas tea for the ladies senior workshop, sponsored by the Birmingham community house and co-sponsored by the Postmen's club was held Friday.

The senior workshop is a group of ladies who meet at the Community house each Friday to make cancer pads and knit afghans. These ladies have made 9240 cancer pads this year which are sent to the Michigan Cancer Foundation and 22 afghans have been made and taken to the Veteran's hospital.

THE HANDICRAFT group have made Christmas card boxes which are taken to various hospitals. Besides all the worthwhile activities mentioned, the group have made many lasting friendships.

A musical program was given by Mrs. Notti Marford and her daughter, Mrs. Clifford Baugh. Christmas readings were by Mrs. William Milligan.

Dear Santa Claus:

I would like a gas station and a wagon and a Jet Saber and a West Watch and a Gun The End. Thank you Santa.
