All This - - And Water?

BEVERLY HILLS—Possibility of installing water mains along with sewers in the portion of Beverly Hills from Evergreen westward was discussed by the village council last week.

However Village President Marvin Cline told The Birmingham Eccentric Tuesday, "I doubt very much whether the council would make a recommendation for water."

Cline said the move to include water mains with the huge sewer project slated for the area would probably have to come by petition from its residents. He added that a few individual wells in the area have gone dry because of increasing demands on the existing water supply.

At text Monday's council meeting bond attorneys are expected to recommend a method for financing the half-million dollar sewer project.
