notional venue and has made frequent appearances on the Columbia Church of the Air and other religious television programs.

A native of Kansas, he received his education at Kansas, Drake and Boston universities. He received his doctor of divinity degree at Kalamazoo college.

He formerly held pastorates at the United Church, Duluth, Minnesota; Richmond Hill Baptist church, New York City and Jackson Memorial church, Minneapolis. He has served at the Jefferson Avenue Baptist church since 1952.

ACTIVE in national, state and local Christian affairs, he currently serves on his denomination's board of education and publication, the board of managers of the Michigan Baptist Convention, the board of trustees of Kalamazoo college and the board of the Baptist city Mission Society, Detroit. He is president of the Detroit Baptist Ministerial Association and vice president of the Detroit Council of Churches.

This & That

too much rain. However, both fall from up above and are bounteous gifts of Mother Nature—and human beings could get along without enough of both. Michigan, unlike a number of other less fortunately situated states, has never had any real calamitous floods, for which we can be thankful.

At the rate people are being shot, often killed, in taverns, it might be a good idea to frisk everybody who comes in. Seems as though some of the customers, after they've had enough shots of hard liquor, allow their fingers to get trigger-happy on their shootin' irons.

Especially in the larger cities is the aid-to-dependent-children program being cheated by people who are not entitled to the money they receive. These programs on State and local levels are costing the taxpayers upward of millions of dollars. It is admitted that one of the chief problems relating to this program is the inability to keep track of money being worked up. After all, determine who gets these funds. In scores and scores of cases not only are many social workers unfit for their jobs, but even those who have so much ground to cover that they can't do a thorough job. What really is needed is to have a continuous auditing inspection of these cases made by competent individuals to the end that no money is being misappropriated. It is a decent type of financial support.

Budget

the Eton rink figures were completed. Last year, the recreation department made only an estimate for the rink, but funds were exhausted one week early in spite of excellent skating weather which reduced the costs.

"We do not wish to go to the city commission for more money next year," board trustee William Allee said.

GIRARDIN said that figures from this season's operation should be complete next week.

The recreation department needed extra money from the city commission this year in order to tear down the rink and put it away for the season.

Allee's request that the rink be closed February 22 instead of the original date of March 1 was unanimously approved at the board meeting.

COSTS of operation in the department's various programs were attributed to the rising budget.

Increases in the playground, baseball, music, tennis, day camp, archery, adult recreation, elementary basketball, natural ice rink, and other program costs raised the budget nearly $12,000.

This year's budget fell just short of completing the department's pre-planned program and recreation members are hoping that last year's program can be measured as standard.

Many of the programs were inaugurated last year and costs could only be estimated.

told The Birmingham Eccentric yesterday morning.

MAXWELL, 554 Brookside, has been a special program announcer at WWJ for 11 years. He also has done considerable work on WWJ-TV.

"I moved to Birmingham five years ago, and have felt I ought to contribute actively to this community I have come to like so well," Maxwell said.

"I believe being a city commissioner is the most active way I could make this contribution."

He came to Detroit in 1929.

EDWARD EMERY, 795 Fairfax, and John Emery, 132 Waterfall, are partners in a law firm with offices at 1100 N. Woodward. Breck, who moved to Birmingham last November, attended Cranbrook school, received his bachelor's degree at Michigan State University and his L.L.B. at the University of Michigan.

A member of the Markle and Markle law firm in Detroit, he is married and has a son, Kevin, two months old.

Denison, of 615 Oakland, is a member of the Birmingham planning board since last August and has announced plans of opening a private law office in the Birmingham area.

INGRAMMA, an attorney with offices at 199 Pierce, resides at 940 Harmon. He was first elected to the city commission in 1956. Renfrew lives at 987 Ardlen Lane. He was named to a commission vacancy in 1951 and was elected to his first term in 1952 for one year.

He won his first full term election in 1953 and was mayor from 1954-56. He is an executive with Jam Handy.

Burgum lives at 1875 Withrop and is a construction engineer.

izing the board to proceed with studies for an addition, the city commission agreed to spend at least $75,000.

Saturday's meeting will show the commission by what exact estimate the basic $75,000 will be needed.

"We already know the city should spend more than $75,000," Kase said prior to yesterday's library board meeting. "We hope Saturday to show why we believe the larger amount is justifiable."

The alternative would be to scale down needs to the available funds, he said.
