Business District

The Birmingham planning board yesterday sent a letter to city commissioners requesting a joint meeting to hear economic consultant Dennis Durden explain the merits of a comprehensive plan for the central business district.

The Chamber of Commerce and general public would be invited to the meeting, which has been tentatively set for March 25. City Planner Herbert Herzberg said Durden contacted him by phone Tuesday and said he thought he could be here the 25th. Durden will confirm the date within 10 days.

DURDEN is a representative of Larry Smith & Co., which served as an economic consultant for Hudson's Northland and Eastland shopping centers. He appeared before plan board members in September of 1958 to outline the work his company did and to give board members an idea of what would be involved in a comprehensive plan for the central business district.

Burglars Ransack
Home Here

Burglars ransacked the Bennett McCarthy home, 651 Abbey, over the weekend. Det. Lt. Merlin Holmquist said entry was gained by slipping the lock on a rear sun porch door.

McCarthy told police that a typewriter, two .22-caliber rifles, a ladies white gold sapphire ring, a portable TV set, a folding travel iron, 8-man movie projector and $70 in cash was missing.

The burglary took place while the McCarthys were having dinner in Waterford.
