Order Estimates, Plans on Widening Of Lincoln Ave.

City commissioners Monday night asked the city engineering department to draw up plans and estimates for the proposed widening of Lincoln between Pierce and Southfield.

In a report to the commission, L. E. Gure, city manager, said reports by the police department, traffic engineer and engineering department demonstrated a need for widening this section.

The engineering department recommendation, based on the result of a highway needs study, was that the highway should be widened from the present 18 feet to 40 feet.

A TRAFFIC COUNT taken last fall showed that peak hour traffic on Lincoln at this portion was 625 vehicles. This is 160 more than the Automotive Safety Council considers practical and safe.

Gure said portions of the existing pavement were in poor condition and should be resurfaced as soon as possible.

He said he thought it would be more economical and better conditioned to surface the existing pavement at the time the pavement is widened than to surface it immediately and then make the surfacing to a future widening.

A public hearing regarding the widening will be held when the plans and estimates are completed.

B'ham Will Share Maple-Bates Alley Construction Costs

City commissioners agreed Monday night that the city should pay a 15 per cent share of construction costs for the Maple-Bates alley.

This includes the $7,200 actual construction cost plus $400 for removal of a building.

The commission heard complaints from several residents living within the Maple-Bates assessment before agreeing to have the city share construction costs.

MOST of the residents said they felt the city should help pay the cost of the $84,400 project because it would benefit by having an improved flow of traffic on Maple.

The commission originally directed the assessor to draw up an assessment roll for 100 per cent of the total estimated cost.

The roll will now be returned for revision to include the city's 15 per cent share of construction costs. The property owners within the district will be assessed for the balance over the city's 15 per cent.
