CARL NELSON

Nelson Heads Metallurgical Division

New and complex methods of heat treating component parts of missiles, rockets and satellites are routine for Carl Nelson, 868 Hickory Heights drive, Bloomfield township.

General manager and chief metallurgist of N. A. Woodworth company heat treat division, Ferndale, Nelson directs the processes used to treat parts vital in the multi-billion dollar national outer space program undertaken by the United States.

Nelson and his staff through close supervision of these processes have earned Woodworth the certification of the Army air force procurement division as well as the endorsement of leading aircraft manufacturers throughout the country.

BUSINESS BRIEFS

J. Jamieson To Retire From Pontiac

John C. Jamieson, 1497 Pilgrim, Birmingham, executive assistant to the general manager in charge of dealer relations for Pontiac motor, will retire February 1, under the provisions of the General Motors retirement plan, after serving the division for 25 years. It was announced by S. E. Knudsen, general manager.

From 1934 to 1944 Jamieson held various positions of responsibility in the Pacific region in 1932 at San Francisco. In 1933, he was appointed assistant general sales manager in charge of Pontiac sales in the western half of the United States with headquarters in Pontiac, Michigan. Jamieson assumed his current executive duties in May, 1956.
