

South Berkshire Party Is No Joke Anymore!

SOUTH BERKSHIRES—The New Year's eve no-host party for South Berkshires residents is always a gala affair at the Alexander Neads on Leemoner drive. There have always been humorous quips about being close enough to home that if one could not drive, they all lived near enough to walk or crawl.

This year the joke became a reality.

The party started with cocktails, hors d'oeuvres and dancing, followed with a buffet supper, song fest and more dancing.

As merry-makers started home, cars were found to have flat tires and they got it on foot, cutting across fields, lawns and ditches. No serious injuries reported, but there were quite a few bumps and bruises.

The Russell Hersherbergers invited several couples to their Stellarium drive home New Year's eve for a watch party and late supper. It became a full-scale slumber party with 16 for breakfast. The Hersherbergers' son, Dick, and daughter, Janet arrived home with dance guests who were being picked up by parents just as the "big freeze" began to set in. Battling the elements, the parents realized they couldn't get back home, so the crowd grew.

In the morning Hersherbergers put chains on his station wagon and drove 4000 guests to 13 Mile road and sent them on their way.

On Friday morning the Hersherbergers' daughter, Kathy, celebrated her 12th birthday with guests who—like slumber party and cake and ice cream feast for her trading card club, joining the fun were Sandra Spencer, Barbara Schiffer and Patty Smith.

Stephen and Dick Weiner, sons of Dr. and Mrs. Maurice Weiner of Lahser road, were home for the holidays. Stephen attends Miami university in Oxford, Ohio, and Dick goes to Albion college.

Sue Rogers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Rogers of Woodhaven lane, was home from the University of Colorado in Denver. Dennis and Ronald, sons of the Anthony Foley of Vernon drive, joined the family for the holidays. Dennis is a sophomore at Champion high school in Prairie du Chene, Wis., and Ronald, SK-3, U.S. Navy will report back to the U.S.S. Flattie, Long Beach, Calif.

Janet Hersherberger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hersherbergers of Stellarium drive returned Sunday to her studies at Michigan State. Bob Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Johnson of Embassy drive, was home from Concordia college, Milwaukee.

Ron Beyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Beyer of 83 Mile road returned last weekend to his studies at Ferris Institute in Big Rapids. The Roger Parishos of Woodhaven lane enjoyed having their two sons home for the holidays. David attends Eastern Michigan college in Ypsilanti and Jack goes to Michigan State.

It looked for awhile like the Maurice Rogers of Woodhaven lane would not have any guests for their traditional New Year's day reunion. However, shortly but shortly, all but one couple of the group arrived for cocktails and buffet dinner as scheduled.

Guests included Grosse Pointe friends, Mr. and Mrs. William Watson, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Korte, Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Korte, son James, and daughter, Sue. Also Birmingham area friends, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Higgenbottom, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sharkey, Gary George, Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCabe and Tom Taylor.

Some 50 neighbors and Detroit area friends were entertained at the Lpton Barnacks at a series of yuletide gatherings at their 13 Mile road home or cocktails, buffet supper and cards.
