Newcomers to the Graefield Terrace Apts. are Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sterlini, 1991 Graefield road. They are originally of New York City.

Sterlini, a graduate of Fordham university in New York City, is now associated with the Macaloes Life Insurance Co. He enjoys photography and art.

Mrs. Sterlini graduated from Grace Institute in New York City and is now employed as a secretary in the office of the Popular Science Co. Her hobbies are cooking and sewing.

Welcomed recently to Graefield were Mr. and Mrs. William Heins of 710 Graefield court. Originally from Eau Claire, Wis., they have been living in Minneapolis, Minn., for the past year.

Heins received his B.A.B. degree in business administration at the University of Wisconsin. He was a member of several professional fraternities. Heins is an accountant with General Motors.

Mrs. Heins claims the University of Wisconsin as her alma mater. She received her B.S. degree in speech correction and taught in the Minneapolis schools. The couple enjoy bridge and swimming.

A group of women from Graefield and one-time residents of the Terrace apartments who meet every other Tuesday for bridge and dessert wound up the year's activities with dinner at Marlo's.

Those present from the apartments were Mrs. Richard Strauss, Mrs. George Clark, Mrs. George Hennessey, Mrs. Louis Savini and Mrs. John Warrne.

Others taking part in the affair were Mrs. Donald Miner of Troyton Manor and Mrs. Richard Ridgeway and Mrs. Walter Edges of Birmingham.

Bridge-Dessert

Mrs. Julian Chevron of Lakeside drive, Birmingham, opened her home for a bridge-dessert. Proceeds will go to the Villa Franciska Home.

Birmingham-Bloomfield Hills Society Notes
 from Nancy Porter

MI 4-2880

(Editor's Note:—Mrs. Robert H. Porter of 1010 N. Glenhurst, Birmingham, will be covering and lending a personal touch to the Birmingham-Bloomfield Hills area. A housewife, Mrs. Porter has two sons, Bob and Steve, who attend Quanton school. She is a member of the Village Woman's club, St. Dunstan's Guild, U of M alumnae association, College Sorosis association of Birmingham and the Needlework Guild. They moved to Birmingham 12 year ago coming from Detroit.)

The Dean Coffins of North Woodward practice what they sing. (Mrs. Coffin recently sang that Birmingham social life is "go and go and go" in the St. Dunstan's production of the "Bloomington Eccentrics", which Mr. Coffin directed.) There is always activity at the Coffin house.

Twins Will and Fred have a house guest, Laurie Mackenzie, staying with them. The three boys are schoolmates at Western Reserve academy.

Sunday, the Coffins invited for a swim a group of friends who work together in the psycho-social department of Pontiac State hospital. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Oglesby, Mr. and Mrs. William Breuch, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Panofitis, and Mr. Douglas Everhardt.

Mrs. William E. Hartman, Jr. had been preparing meals in the basement of her Berwyn road home for the last six weeks while having the kitchen completely remade. She escaped the final touches by leaving Monday for Culver, Ind., to enroll son Bill in summer Naval school.

Accompanying her are her daughter Mary Ann and her two friends, Kristin Jones and Patty Page. They will stop at Oak Ridge, Tenn., to take in the Atomic Energy museum.

They plan to stop overnight at Gatlinburg, Tenn., and then on to Flat Rock, N. C., to spend up the home of Mr. Hartman's parents, the William E. Hartmans, Sr., former Birmingham residents, who are presently taking a nine-month trip around the world. Last heard from they were on a safari in Africa.

Bill, who plans to remain at Culver next September to enter Culver Military academy for a four-year course, was honored Sunday at a farewell party at the Robert G. Hartmann on Orchard lake, where he and 24 of his classmates from Barman school had an afternoon of swimming, boating, and water skiing.

Mrs. Hartman and the three girls will remain in Flat Rock for a month.

Other activity on Berwyn last week was an informal patio party Friday evening given by Mr. and Mrs. Albert L. Hopkins. Fourteen guests enjoyed the steaks grilled to order by the host and a buffet supper on the porch and patio, which is surrounded by a garden featuring blue delphiniums and pink petunias.

Pink as the predominating color of the porch, with pink geraniums showing through the glass-top tables, Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins have planned a series of similar parties to be given throughout the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul F. Lorenz sent out invitations to 28 neighbors on North Glenhurst drive and Brookwood court for Sunday evening cocktails and supper. Purpose of the evening: know your neighbor. Green name tags complete with addresses were issued to guests, and a map posted on the porch showed all the neighborhood houses with occupants' names.

Card tables covered with green cloths were set up outside on the lawn. Each table has its own candlelight. Mrs. E. C. Klotsburger, also a neighbor, brought over a table centerpiece arranged from flowers in her own garden.

The Lorenzes have lived in their present home for 3 years and have noticed how often people come and go without getting to know their neighbors.

The Rev. and Mrs. Theodore Wiggazer, Jr. entertained for their son Duane, who was ordained into the ministry Sunday at the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer. He had wanted to become a minister since he was two years old.

To celebrate his achievement, 50 dinner guests were invited to the church. All the guests were relatives of his own and his wife, the former Mary Kay Janer of Birmingham. An open house was held after 5 p.m. in the Wiggazer home on North Glenhurst.

Mrs. Fred M. Harley of Brookwood court and her daughter Sue (Mrs. Samuel H. Campbell from Lookout Mt., Tenn.) were co-hostesses at a baby shower for Mrs. Richard Weir, the former Jean MacGregor.

Sue and Jean have known each other as neighbors for most of their lives. The maternal and paternal grandmothers were both present, Mrs. H. D. MacGregor and Mrs. Marguerite Mayne, of Birmingham.

Even the youngest generation was represented with Sammy, 3-month son of Mr. and Mrs. Campbell, and Monnie, 6-month old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert MacGregor. Sammy and Monnie received presents of their own.

Mrs. Campbell will be in town until the Fourth of July.

The pups are there again!

Yes. You can't quite miss the completely local emphasis of the Detroit Times. Worlds may shatter. Dynasties may fall. But somewhere—somehow—a boxer gives birth to pups. A boxer belonging to a lonely little guy. And the pups are a front page feature.

Call this sentimental, if you like.

We don't think it is.

Like any other major newspaper, we have the services of AP and UPI—including our Hearst Headline Service. Plus our own news bureaus in Washington and Lansing.

But watch that feature picture on the first page of the Times. And then you'll know. Our heart is with you: the pups are here again.
