

Capital Finish to exciting Year

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Foreign exchange students exchange a visit with Congressman William S. Broomfield as they make one of the last stops in their year-long stay in the United States. These students all lived in the Birmingham area. Flanking Broomfield are Rosa Elma Olascoaga, Argentina, and Claudia Caramanti, Italy. Behind him are (from left) Attilio Cortella, Italy and Ercan Sonkaya, Turkey. While in Washington, they were greeted by President Eisenhower and made the normal tourist tour of the Capital. The students, their foster parents, and schools they attended here are: Miss Olascoaga—Dr. and Mrs. Edmond L. Cooper, 914 Shirley drive, Kingswood; Miss Caramanti—Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Y. Watson, 1320 Latham, Birmingham high school; Cortella—Mr. and Mrs. George W. Romney, 1830 E. Valley road, Bloomfield Hills, Cranbrook; Sonkaya—Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Brown, 684 N. Cranbrook, Birmingham high school. Renato Meyer (not pictured), of Argentina, lived with Mr. and Mrs. Nereed D. Alik, 6546 W. Maple and attended West Bloomfield High school.

Lends an Ear

Bruce White, 430 Greenwood, Birmingham, has his ear bent by his pet raccoon much of the time these days. The raccoon, dubbed Tuffy, has practically the run of Bruce's anatomy—climbs all over him and chews on fingers and ears. Tuffy's mother was a victim of Evergreen interceptor construction. His father is known in the neighborhood as a garbage can raider. The orphan drinks from a nursing bottle, follows Bruce around like a dog, and seems to like people better than animals.
