

There is such a condition as "mob hysteria", during which a person may cling to and follow leaders of various ideologies. It may be a political party, a throng engaged in putting down a riotous group bent on pillaging, a momentary "kill the umpire" impulse, response to the evils of gangsterism . . . or even the otherwise harmless motivations of the Halloween spirit.

FOR AND ABOUT DAY'S YOUTH

'Go, Go, Go!'—and They Do, Every Day and Every Way

By ANN BUCHANAN
Special Writer

This week finds the seemingly endless flow of summer travelers still on the move. While a few are returning, still more are leaving.

Marty Cole of Bloomfield Hills is spending the summer in Grand Rapids. Her classmate Barb Van Dyke is also away for the entire summer. Barb is at the family cottage at Grand Haven on Lake Michigan.

KAREN Sundberg, who recently spent a week with her family on your yacht, is junior-counseling at a camp for one month.

Also junior counselors at Camp Huntington are Susie Chatterton, Nancy Knight and Betsy Wright. Attending the same camp are Holly Shuler, Nancy Thalsacker, and Sally Cunningham.

Fred Finkenaur and Jeff Boucher left last week for Camp Idlewild where they joined other Birmingham counselors Les Harber, Roger Kessam, John Hutchinson and Larry Nickel.

ALTHOUGH they aren't counseling, Rick Clark and Phil Berk are attending camp.

In the process of moving from their beach road home to their new home on Burt Lake, Jon Hobbrock and his family are dividing their time between Birmingham and the north country.

Judy Allston, senior at the Continent of the Sacred Heart in Bloomfield, is spending all of July with her family at the Blue Haven Resort on Torch Lake. Sue Bearden, a convent classmate of Judy's, is spending a week as guest of the Allstons.

MARY Gillan, BHS junior, is passing the summer at her cottage at White Hall. Mary will return around Labor Day.

Another European traveler: as part of her graduation present, Linda McMaster is accompanying her parents for one month of sight-seeing on the continent. The McMasters leave tomorrow, crossing the ocean via a jet airliner.

Marilyn Bratton, vacationing at Ormond Beach, Florida, says she is having a wonderful time, but "keeps thinking of Birmingham." Marilyn returns this week-end from her three week stay in Florida with her family.

Enjoying the first Chet Sampson Western tour of the summer are Judy and Joan Reilly, Karen Bennet, and Judy Knowles. The girls left June 29 and will return July 26.

Teen Journalist Learns at U of D

Forty-one high school newspaper editors and reporters are going to the University of Detroit this summer.

Among the young journalists is Marilyn Hasey, 3710 Wedgewood, Bloomfield township, who is in training for her 1959-60 editorship of News Print, Our Lady of Mercy high school's student publication.

In the two-week workshop students attend classes in editing, do lab work, tour the Detroit News and a printing shop, write, edit and publish an edition of the Varsity News, the University of Detroit campus newspaper.

Marilyn will be a semi at OLM in September.

New Wrinkle—In Old 'PJ's'

A new wrinkle in graduation celebrations was attempted by recent Birmingham high school grads Mary Lester, Sue Bears, and Diane Hodge.

The wrinkles were mainly in the party costumes at the all-girl "come-as-you-are" breakfast, June 24.

Hostesses picked up their guests at 6:30 a.m. and took them to the home of Sue Bears, 454 Hawthorne, Birmingham.

In the "Pajama Game" were: Mimi Reidich, Mary Ann Norris, Beth Collins, Linda Patton, Kathy Mallinson, Ruth Ann Helmrich, Pat Haver, Nancy Hinken, Lynne Cloonan, Jan Cadwell, Margo Mensing.

Early risers also included Joan Davies, Julie Schmidt, Nancy Seeley, Di Richardson, Di Howard, Jane Torrence, Sharon Eiler, Kathy Vose, Linda Burkman, Mary and Margaret Bird, Julie Beecher, Sue Clark. Other sleepy-eyed coffee drinkers were Linda McMasters, Di Dawson, Barb Falconer, Ginny Irwin, Jill Morton, Nancy Todd, Sue Leiby, Ginny Hutton, Barb Struck, Sue Sawyer, Julie Guest, Carol McCurry, Liz Weber, Kathy Bronson, Bonnie Bramblett, and Sue Elliot.
