Summer School Was Never Like This

CRANBROOK—Young artists, scientists and sports enthusiasts can spend an enjoyable six weeks of fun and education at the Kingswood-Cranbrook summer day camp, June 22 to July 31. The annual camp program is designed for children 6 to 15 from the Birmingham-Bloomfield Hills area. Co-directors Dorothy E. Inglis and William Schultz, Jr., report that some divisions are still open for enrollment. Girls ages 6 to 8 may enroll in the play school which features outdoor games, simple handicraft and explorations of the Cranbrook estate. Girls ages 9 and over who are interested in art may join the ceramics, drawing and painting course. Instructor will be Robert Kline, graduate of Cranbrook Academy of Art and a member of Kingswood School's art faculty. Above, girls from the play school division and Red Cross instructors bath in Jonah pool.

Present First Awards

By CHRIS GRYSO

The Bloomfield Hills junior high presented its first Annual Awards assembly for the graduating class on Friday, June 5, from 2:00 until 3:30. Family and friends were invited to attend the program.

The band played a march, "Conquer," while the ninth grade class marched in pairs. Art Tregenza and the pledge to the flag and was followed by an invocation given by Mr. Bates.

MR. DELL started out the awards presentation with boys' sports awards after a short speech from master of ceremonies, Robert Smith. Next Miss Siterlet presented the girls' sports awards. Following these awards were two selections sung by the Triple Trio.

Dramatics awards were presented by Mr. Drummond. Mrs. McGuire presented the Library and Audio Visual Awards. And Mrs. Sharland presented the Newspaper awards. Following this was a band number, "Copa Cabana."

MR. DOERR presented the Of-awards. Mrs. Clouse presented the Hall Monitor awards and Mr. McGuire presented the Shoe awards. This award went to the best all-around girl and boy student, Kathy Mitchell and Art Tregenza were the winners.

Closing the program was Mr. McGuire with a Benediction. The ninth grade class then marched out while the band played "On The Street." The band was directed by Mr. Tilton.

MONDAY, JUNE 11 the archery contest was continued for the ninth grade girls. The winner from first hour, Linda Deenges, from second hour, and Ellen Kemp from third hour, all competing for the championship. Sue Gilpin turned out to be the winner winning with a score of 134. She received a trophy at the third hour the final contest was Awards assembly.
