

Theater School Enlarges Summer Teaching Staff

Janet Simpson, ingenue at Wife o' Way for the 1957-58 season, has joined the Senior Production staff of the Cranbrook Summer theatre school, according to William Hollingsworth, acting director for the first half of the 1959 season.

Miss Simpson, a graduate of the University of Michigan and Michigan State, has had professional stage experience both in stock and in New York.

Also joining the Cranbrook staff will be Hannelore Lawrence of Birmingham, who will assist Patricia Hogan in the Intermediate and Junior divisions. Mrs. Lawrence is Smith college dramatics major.

Returning also to the Cranbrook outdoor project is Bernice Baumgartner of Wayne University, for three years a member of the Cranbrook staff as costume and make-up director. Miss Baumgartner will teach make-up and directing.

A FOURTH NEW member of the Cranbrook staff will be Dave Burnett who will return to his post as Technical Director, a position which he held until a year ago.

The Theatre School directors have announced that scholarships for boys in the graduating classes of high schools and for college students will be increased from twelve to fifteen for the current season only. Candidates must apply in person to Carl G. Wonnberger, Director of the Theatre school at Cranbrook, Bloomfield Hills.

Get More than Gas

Burglars took $285 in cash from a painter's service station, 1596 N. Woodward early Sunday morning. They entered through a rear door, by removing a door panel, sometime between 2:40 and 5:40 a.m., police said. The money, they said, was in a cloth money bag.

Science Schedule Set for Summer At Cranbrook

CRANBROOK — James A. Fowler, Curator of education at Cranbrook Institute of science, has announced a varied program at the institute for the summer months.

Two new exhibits will be featured in the natural history museum: a large one on the now extinct passenger pigeon as it might have appeared in Oakland county in the late 19th century; a smaller one on Mexico's divine mushroom. The mushroom exhibit is the result of 30 years work by R. Gordon Wason, a stockbroker, and his wife, and concerns the curious custom of drugging by use of mushrooms. This primitive religious rite still survives among the Indians in Oaxaca, and is responsible for the significance of the Mexican "mushroom stones". A third exhibit, here for the summer months, is a display of Navaho blankets and Pueblo crafts in the South Wing of the museum.

Stars, constellations, planets and other astronomical entities may be seen in the summer skies on the dome of the planetarium or through the observatory telescope. In addition to the regular public demonstration Saturday and Sunday at 2:30 and 3:30, and Wednesdays at 4 p.m., during July extra demonstrations are announced for Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays at 3 p.m.

Organ Seminar Set

Barron Smith will be presented in an organ seminar at the Birmingham Community House June 17 at 6:30 p.m. Appearing as organist in motion pictures, radio and television he also toured with the Roger Wagner Choral and recently finished a tour with Fred Waring's orchestra.

Recital Scheduled

A recital will be given Saturday at 2:30 p.m. by Mrs. Thyra Matus pupils at the Baldwin library.

Birthdays, anniversaries, guests, births, parties are all news—call the society editor about them.

Concert Series

The Detroit Symphony Orchestra, Valter Fold conducting, will open its summer series of free concerts Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. in the Music Shell at the Michigan State Fair grounds. Soloist will be Ray Dudley, pianist. Saturday night the program will be devoted to lighter music including selections from "My Fair Lady" by Richard Rodgers.

Have You Met . . .

The residents of 745 Redding road? Mr. and Mrs. George Pratt moved from Neenah, Wisc., on April 15. Mr. Pratt is training as sales engineer for United States Gypsum. They have a daughter, Julie. Their hobbies are sports and photography.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ray of Greenfield road? They moved from Rochester, N. Y., on April 11. Mr. Ray is a senior layout engineer at Ternstedt division, GMC. Hobbies are hunting and fishing.

PATRICIA BRICKLEY

Wedding Date Set For August 8

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond P. Brickley of Detroit announce the engagement of their daughter, Patricia Marie, to Robert Jerome Mitchell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melville J. Mitchell, of Colby lane, Birmingham.

A wedding date for August 8 has been set for Gusu church.

Newlywed Charliers Traveling to Florida

Given in marriage by her father, Madonna Jeanne Springer became the bride of Felix A. Charlier Saturday morning at Her Name church. The Rev. Msgr. Eugene Fadlock performed the double ring ceremony in the presence of 300 guests.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bradford Springer of Vinewood drive, Birmingham. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Charlier of Washington boulevard, Birmingham.

THE BRIDE'S GOWN was fashioned of silk peau de soie featuring long tapering sleeves, bouffant skirt trimmed with beaded aleon lace and cathedral length train. A crown of orange blossoms and seed pearls secured her fingertip veil of silk illusion. She carried a cascade of amaranth lilies.

Honor attendants were Jeanne Verhoven and bridesmaids were Shirley Hebert, Mrs. Daniel Springer and Mrs. Curtis Westlake. Junior bridesmaid was Mary Springer.

They were gowning in open blue pure silk organza dresses with bell skirts and circular veil headpieces. Their flowers consisted of sprays of pink carnations.

Allen Henderson stood as best man. Ushers were James Canaugh, Burke Cueny and Jack Bogan.

Mother of the bride wore a champagne organza sheath with a blue flowered hat. Mrs. Charlier selected a pink crepe sheath and a matching chiffon flowered hat. Both mothers had cymbidium orchids.

The newlyweds greeted guests at the Rotunda Inn for a breakfast reception.

MRS. FELIX CHARLIER

The new Mrs. Charlier changed to a white suit for her honeymoon to Florida. They will make their home in Birmingham after two weeks.

Humility

This is the fifth of a series dealing with the 10 cardinal factors which have charted the course of our business operation.

Webster's Definition: To be humble in spirit, to be free of arrogance and to admit of fallibility —

There are times in the course of operating any business when it's necessary to admit of performance below standards set by that business. In such circumstances comes a test of determining the equities of seller and buyer to their mutual satisfaction.

In 81 years of operating our business we have been put to that test a number of times, just as you, yourself, may have been.

Whenever our performance is questioned we assume an attitude that the customer's disappointment is genuinely sincere and justified. The fault is ours until the facts are thoroughly appraised and responsibilities are clearly established. The impulse to be arbitrarily self righteous, we have learned, invariably clouds the issues and precludes a reasonable and mutual satisfaction in resolving the problem.

So, you can always be assured that we will live up to our standards and, because they are high standards, you know you will be satisfied with our performance. Which means that if we should fail in producing your order properly we stand ready to admit, humbly, our fault and graciously accept the responsibility of a rerun.

We believe you enjoy doing business with a firm that operates in this spirit. We expect it in our suppliers. And, as your supplier, you can expect it of us.

And, while we're on the subject of fallibility, may we acknowledge a recent "goof" we openly admit to committing? This and previous mailings in our series of "ten" are reprints of ads appearing each month in The Birmingham Eccentric. In the reprint order of "INTEGRITY" we found the type had been "thrown in". So the ad was reset, but, in the processing of it for reprint, we failed to include the step of correcting a revised proof from the composing room. As a result, the copy you received had several typographical errors including the word "MISTAKES"!

To those who saw it and told us about it — thanks for your pleasant ribbing. To others — our humble regrets and a free admission that we do make mistakes. But when we do, it's not to be at your expense!

DAY AND NIGHT OPERATION

... and a Detroit Sales Office to serve you

THE AVERILL PRESS, INC.

(Formerly the Printing Division of The Birmingham Eccentric)

PLANT—JORDAN 4-6644

MIDWEST 6-2000

DETROIT SALES OFFICE—TRINITY 5-2629

HAROLD W. BURROWS

Honorary Degree To Harold Burrows From Wayne State

Harold W. Burrows, vice-president and board member, Parke, Davis and Co., is one of three persons who will be cited for their outstanding services to their fellow men at Wayne State University commencement exercises at 8:30 p.m. Thursday, June 11, in the State Fair Coliseum.

Burrows, who lives at 265 Manor Rd., Birmingham, will receive an honorary doctor of laws degree for his many years of service as a Detroit civic leader. A native of Canada, Burrows is a certified public accountant and former comptroller of the State of Michigan.

IN A BUSINESS career that spans nearly 40 years, he has served as chief fiscal officers for many organizations.

His career has included service to the Salvation Army, the United Nations relief and rehabilitation administration in China, the U.S. Army (fiscal division, War department), the reconstruction finance corporation in Washington, and Parke, Davis and Co.

The U.S. government gave Burrows the legion of merit citation in 1945. His Wayne citation also praises him for his many years of leadership with the United community services of which he is currently president, and the United Foundation which he serves as director and committee member.

THE CITATION also praises him for "his selfless dedication and

Memorial Dinner June 15 for Rev. Wm. C. Hamm

A dinner honoring the late Rev. William C. Hamm will be held at Indianwood country club, Lake Orion, Monday, June 15 at 7:00 p.m. Through the generosity of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Rueckman and son Spike, owners of Indianwood, proceeds of the dinner will go to the Hamm memorial fund in memory of Rev. Hamm and to aid his family.

"Bill" Hamm, as he was affectionately known to his many friends, came to Michigan as an assistant at Christ Church, Cranbrook. He later was rector of St. Josephs, Detroit.

Ill health forced his retirement for a period, but later he took over the All Saints, Pontiac, mission church of St. Mary's-in-the-Hill, Lake Orion. St. Mary's is in a lovely country setting on the former Upper Estate and was originally the King D. Scripps School.

BISHOP CROWLEY will attend the dinner along with Rev. Hamm's many friends in the parishes he served, in the Red Cross whose Oakland county unit he once chaired, among the Masons and the Rotary where he also served.

Reservation tickets are available through the Episcopal Churches in this area.

Finishes Training: Becomes a Marine

SAN DIEGO, Calif. — Samuel B. Moray, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman R. Moray of 408 Baldwin, Birmingham, completed recruit training May 27 at the Marine Corps Recruit depot, San Diego, Calif.

The 11-week course included instruction in all basic military subjects and infantry weapons.

continuing concern and for the rich contribution made by his life and work among us.

Others to receive honorary degrees are Florence G. Casanova, secretary of the national party department of the council of social agencies and the United community services of Detroit; and Dr. Derek E. Denny-Brown, professor of neurology at Harvard University and director of neurological research at Boston city hospital.

Saylor Gets Army Rank

CENTER LINE — The broad smile belongs to James C. Saylor, 24, as Major Raymond J. Astor, executive officer, Research and Engineering Directorate, Detroit Arsenal, pins on the silver bar promoting him to first lieutenant, United States Army. Lt. Saylor is a project engineer at the Detroit Arsenal. He was employed as an engineer by the Ford Motor company prior to entering the service in November, 1957. A 1953 graduate of Cranbrook, Saylor is also a 1957 Michigan State university graduate. He and his wife, Mildred, reside at 1591 Haynes, Birmingham.