

In time of emergency, individuals and even nations will change from lassitude, apathy, indifference and respond to doing what is momentarily necessary, bring about corrections. That is what happened when our Colonists overthrew England's early tyranny. Today our nation is drifting into dangerous situations; perhaps we must come much closer to losing freedom before we'll fight to save it.

BHHS Students Win Traub Travel Award

Bloomfield Hills high school awarded the coveted Robert C. J. Traub memorial travel scholarship at a special assembly last week to two seniors, Penny A. Holloway and Stephen Thomas Manhard.

Penny, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy L. Holloway, 850 Bloomcrest, received the music award. Tom took the honor for his excellence in art. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen J. Manhard, 4375 Oak Grove.

A FEATURED soloist in the annual spring Easter concert March 20, Penny has been active in the high school and church choir. She is a member of the Hills from the Hills, BHHS vocal specialty group.

Tom is the art director of the student publication, a columnist and cartoonist for The Birmingham Eccentric and poster artist for St. Dunstan's guild. He carries an all A average in his art courses.

SUE WOODSIDE, 148 Linda court, was the art alternate and Clason Shumard, 20485 Cameron, was alternate in music.

A total of nine contestants vied for the honor, according to Superintendent Eugene Johnson.

Supt. Johnson commended all the contestants for their achievements and termed them "good students, good citizens and a tribute to the high school."

The Traub travel fund was established by Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor Traub in memory of her late husband. It affords two art or music students the opportunity to spend a summer in Europe before entering college in the fall.

Spring Concert Tomorrow Night

The Bloomfield Hills choir and band will present its annual spring concert in the school gym tomorrow night at 8.

The choir, under the direction of Mr. Clarence Luckman, will present a variety of numbers. The real meaning of Easter will be conveyed through a scene entitled "The Glory of Easter."

In contrast to this will be the touches of spring from Latin America, several selections from "Showboat," and a medley of spring songs.

Under the direction of Mr.

Who but Phi Sigma Tau could come up with such a unique idea—(See BILLBOARD, Page 3-D)

Will-O-Way performer Duane Thompson and English instructor Paul Springer, who are directing the classic force comedies map prop plans. Students Jamie Martin, Bill Smith and Cliff Higgins have started construction on the Oxford university setting.

NEVER BEFORE

HAS CURE COST SO LITTLE

Two decades ago, hospital bills resulting from a case of pneumonia cost an average of 3 months' wages.

Today, pneumonia is cured at home—with drugs that cost an average of only 5 hours' wages. Factual proof that today's prescriptions have lowered the cost of living.
