It's Signed, Sealed For Summer Delivery

All the preliminaries are over, and West Maple's repaving and widening is signed, sealed, and will be delivered next summer.

Birmingham city commission and the county road commission signed agreements only weeks ago.

And by approving a special assessment district Monday night, the city sealed the reconstruction of the badly deteriorated 2,000-foot stretch from Cranbrook road eastward.

ONLY THE GAS station at the southeast corner will be assessed. The project's delivery will come this summer—and the sooner the better, say city officials.

"A men!" echo thousands of motorists who have painstakingly driven their vehicles over the washboard.

County road crews have been

To Advertise Bids for Cty. Court House

The Oakland county board of supervisors last week authorized the courthouse committee to complete plans and specifications and advertise for bids for a new multi-million dollar court house.

Bids on the new building, to be according to City Manager L. R. Gan.

BUDGETED IN $16,000 for snow removal. This was needed by the end of January. The city has been running up a deficit since and will need an additional appropriation.

"Just what our final costs are going to be is a wild guess at this point—we've just been trying to keep up with the big job the weather has been imposing on us," Gare emphasized.

located with other county buildings west of Pontiac on N. Telegraph, will be analyzed and the committee will report back to the board.

A State Supreme court ruling Feb. 19 cleared the way for construction of the new building, twice rejected by voters. The court ruled that supervisors could legally use non-tax surpluses built up to $2,156,000 between 1948 and 1957 for building the structure.

to make up the difference between the $1.7 million in the county building fund and the $2.8 estimate on the first section of a new courthouse.

Levinson said funds could be made available by selling the 55-year-old building before the completion date of the new building. The balance of the building fund would be increased during the two years it will take to build the court wing of the structure.
