SOCIETY

To Make the Sick Well
 The volunteer task of helping mentally ill Pontiac state hospital patients through horticultural therapy includes taking apart funeral bouquets, as these Women's National Farm and Garden association members are doing. The four attended a workshop last Friday at the southeastern Michigan Horticultural Therapy council, held at Devon Gables. (From left) Mrs. O. H. Focock, of Cranbrook WNFGA, Mrs. Donald Tracy, Franklin branch; Mrs. Richard Heinzman, East Beverly Branch, and Mrs. J. Edwin Watson, Bloomfield Hills branch, spent the day at the workshop. They heard talks describing methods and benefits of work with plants and flowers in aiding the recovery of mentally or physically ill persons.

Ed Adamses Home After 3 Weeks of Jamaica Sun
 Enjoying three weeks of Jamaica sunshine were the Edward Adams, Jr. of Tibury road. They spent a most relaxing time golfing, swimming and sightseeing.
 Comfortably housed at Shaw Park hotel in the mountains overlooking the quaint town of Ocho Rios, their view of the gorgeous flowers and the bay was breathtaking. They returned via Nassau and New York.

The Robert Drummonds are at home on Amberly road after a winter at Boca Raton, Fla. Staying until the children had finished their studies in school, Mrs. Drummond was surprised at the beauty of the Florida springtime—finding flowers she had never seen before in bloom everywhere.
 The George W. Millers of N. Gleggarry road are back after a four month stay in Ft. Lauderdale. They are avid fishermen and spent some time in the Keys where they were joined by the John Butlers of Waddington road. Mrs. Butler's prize catches were two tarpon.
 The Joseph P. Baldez moved last week from their N. Williamsburg road home to a home on Oakland drive overlooking Oakland Hills country club.
 Spending a week with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Hugh Whitelaw of Waddington road, is four-year-old Jerome from Shaker Heights, Ohio. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Tone, were here last weekend, will come back for Decoration Day weekend.
 Celebrating her fourth birthday today is Julie Halla, daughter of the Reid Hallas of Burnside Bush. Party guests will be Patrick Nolan, Nancy Petoskey, Bill Scott, Susan King, Warren and Anne Brennan and Heidi, Julie's sister.
 Julian B. Wilson of Waddington road and fishing companions Jack Waite, Dan Petermann, Charles Brodeur, Joe Currin and Ted Pratt spent this past week at Lake Megason in the northern Canadian wilds.
 Mr. and Mrs. Lee A. Bertling of Ardmoor drive were in Washington, D. C., last weekend. They brought their daughter, Jane, home with them from Mount Vernon junior college. Jane leaves June 10 for Hawaii for a four-month vacation, with several classmates before entering the University of Hawaii for the summer session.
 The H. Jamison Williams will be entertaining Saturday night for the Robert W. Budds of Bloomfield Hills who are leaving soon for the East. Guests will enjoy cocktails in their home on Yarmouth, then attend the Bloomfield Hills country club dance.

College Installs League Officers

Officers of the Women's League at Eastern Michigan college were installed May 20 at ceremonies at McKenny Hall, Ypsilanti.
 New president is Jane Antoski of Romulus. First vice president is Joyce Brooks of Ypsilanti. Second vice president is Andrea Tibble of Birmingham. Secretary is Florence Hogan of Ann Arbor and treasurer is Carolyn Campbell of Drayton Plains.
 Advisory boards and executive boards were also installed by outgoing officers.
