'Mad Hatter's Dance Held By 7th Grade

by SUE BREEDLOVE

On Friday, May 1, the seventh grade held the Mad Hatter's Hop with dancing, games, and movies. The hop lasted from 7:30 to 10:30, and the admission was 50¢. The posters around the school described it as "seventh heaven," and many of the boys agreed because they didn't have to wear ties, the dress being casual.

Derby's ninth grade mixed chorus went to the vocal festival at Oxford high school for rating and criticism. The festival was for all schools in the northern suburbs of Detroit, and Elizabeth White from Michigan State university was the judge.

The chorus received a 1 rating, meaning superior, of which they are very proud. The judge also commented on the groups striking appearance. The girls wore red skirts and white blouses, and the boys wore all white, red and white being the school colors.

On Wednesday, April 29, Barnum and Derby traded variety shows as they do every year. Derby's show was at Barnum in the morning, for two showings, and Barnum's was at Derby in the afternoon.

St. Clair Inn and Country Club

In the metropolitan Detroit science fair held some time ago, Sue McClanahan won a blue ribbon; Kathy Laux, Bruce Risk, Mark Davison, Teresa Fisher, and Phyllis Dail won red ribbons; and John Rector, Bob Beck, Joyce Thompson, Nancy Drinkard, and Starlet Brussel won white ribbons.

Seventy-five ninth graders went to see "A Midsummer Night's Dream" at the Wayne theater on May 1. Mr. Phillip, a ninth grade English teacher organized the trip, and Mr. Voydanoff, who was taking a class at Wayne, picked up the play. The play started at 8:30 and lasted to 11 p.m., and tickets cost the special student price of 75¢.

The Art Club gave a puppet show about "Hansel and Gretel" accompanied by the seventh grade girls' ensemble for the children living in the Royal Oak Baptist children's home on Monday, April 26. The Art Club members, sponsored by Miss Seitter, made the sets themselves, and the ensemble, led by Miss Yoel, adapted some little songs to fit the program.

There were eleven children present, and they all seemed to enjoy the program. The girls in the ensemble were dressed exactly alike, and this aroused debates as to whether they were twins or triplets until one saw a little boy silenced them with "They're not even sisters at all." The children impressed everyone with their good manners and cute faces. After the program ended, they sang "Hurray For Girls" and "Hurray For Boys" as a thank-you to their entertainers. The children were given the puppets and copies of the script so they could reproduce the program themselves. Then everyone joined in group singing led by Miss Yoel who had taught younger children before she came to Derby and therefore knew their favorite songs.

Kingswood Column

On April 27 the Kingswood faculty handed in their formal report on the school year. The girls are now in the final marking period of the school year.

The music department of Kingswood presented a program on Tuesday afternoon, April 28, in the Kingswood auditorium. The program included performances by solo and duo pianists, soloists of the vocal department, and the junior glee club. The selection of pieces varied from a piano composition by Chopin to a song by Gerahwin, and the junior glee club closed the program with a choral paraphrase on "Peter Pan."

Thursday, April 30, was a special day for the juniors and seniors. Each junior received the senior ring of the senior who will be her big sister for the remainder of the school year.

The National Merit Scholarship qualifying test was given to Kingswood juniors on Saturday, May 2, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon. The scholarship program is a "nationwide search for students who demonstrate extraordinary ability to benefit from a college education. Five of Kingswood's present seniors were semi-finalists and four were finalists in this selective program.

Class parties were given in the afternoon of May 2 for the juniors and seniors. Ann Leech had the seniors at her home for a luncheon that lasted well into the afternoon. Sally Wecker and her family welcomed the juniors for lunch from 1:00 P.M. to 3:30.
