New Hall & Young Buildings Opened

Marvin R. Young, president of Hall & Young, Inc., Birmingham realtors, has announced the opening of two new offices by the corporation.

One of the offices is located at 4114 West Maple road in Bloomfield township, situated just west of Telegraph and directly across from the new Bloomfield Plaza shopping center. This office replaces the firm's former quarters at 402 W. Maple.

The other office is located at 345 South Woodward avenue, in Birmingham's central business district, and adjacent to the Bloomfield theatre.

BOTH NEW offices were designed and built to the specific requirements of Hall & Young, Inc. They represent the latest in modern real estate office planning. The buildings, identical in exterior design, have contemporary fronts of Imperial Egyptian marble, aluminum and glass.

The interiors are fitted with black walnut paneled reception areas, newly developed two inch solid plaster partitions and metal acoustical ceilings of a recently introduced design.

Decor, by Margaret Metelski of Birmingham, is a blend of turquoise, white, gold and persimmon in the Birmingham office and of charcoal, white, gold and persimmon in the Bloomfield office. Both offices are centrally air conditioned and have large paved parking facilities adjoining.

HALL & YOUNG, INC., was organized 5 1/2 years ago by Marvin R. Young and Owen E. Hall, president and executive vice president respectively of the company. Other officers are Carl H. Plumbhoff, vice president, John D. Dunn, secretary, and Fred W. Pierce, treasurer.

The firm has a staff of 23 full time associates.

With two new offices, strategically located for maximum effective market coverage and staffed with experienced associates, Hall & Young, Inc. can now offer the finest possible service in the Birmingham-Bloomfield area to both buyer and seller," said Owen E. Hall.
