BITS OF BIRMINGHAM

Let you forget, Saturday is "Good Turn Day" for the thousands of boy scouts in the Detroit metro area. They will be picking up those Goodwill bags you leave at the curb on Nov. 28. This good turn will aid the many enterprising handicapped men and women who comprise Goodwill Industries. Put your Goodwill bag out before 10 a.m. please. The starting hour on this nation's largest clothing drive ever attempted.

A reader called to ask: "Is it better to turn down the furnace thermostat when nobody is home and at night or just leave it alone?" There have been several questions like this with the advent of cold weather and Consumers Power space heating advisor R. H. Fournier has the answer. "It is better just to leave it alone—and when you want to turn it down, try not to change it more than four degrees. Experiments show it is best to keep the house temperature constant because you only have to re-heat the walls, floors and furniture to the normal temperature," Fournier said.

The nation's Cranberry Crisis has drawn many pros and cons, along the line from growers to consumers. It's a game of "Berry, Berry, Who's Got Some Cranberries?" for those whose stomachs are made of sterner stuff. Pessimists are asking "Berry, Berry, Who's Eaten the Berries?" And some have gone to verse with their sentiments. Such as one of our regular readers, Mrs. W. W. Lightbody, 1485 Yosemite, B'ham. She sent us this original piece titled "Smart Solution": "No cranberries for turkey, child and Grandmama! The Aussies, though, suggest a way — "There's all we want in Cranberra!"

Thanksgiving Day television programs will be wide and varied during that special day as the TV industry tries to offer something to everyone. At 9:45 a.m. a short film of the fairy tale, Hansel and Gretel, will appear on WWJ-TV. At 10 a.m. WXYZ, WWJ, and WJBK television stations will offer the holiday parades appearing on the land—including the J. L. Hudson parade in Detroit. At 12 noon, WJBK-TV will offer the movie epic "For Whom the Bell Tolls." Beginning at 1:45, WWJ-TV will have the Duke-N. Carolina football game.

Even during the recent cold weather it was observed that a number of local teenagers of the feminine gender braved the frigid temperatures while still wearing summer shorts beneath their rain-coats. Remarkably one Birmingham chap to his wife. "Some of our younger girls certainly carry summer styles right into winter, it appears. Guess it must be as the experts say — women can stand more physical stress and strain than men."

Somebody with a poetic inclination has placed a couple of small signs in two flower beds in Birmingham's Shain Park which plead: "WALK SOFTLY . . . BULBS ASLEEP." How much more public sympathetic consideration those bulbs will receive than though the signs exclaimed: "Keep Off . . . Flower Bed!"

Barnum Musicians Set for 'Santa Hop'

Plans are underway for the "Santa Hop" sponsored by the Barnum band and orchestra parents. The group readied the Dec. 4 program, which will be in the Barnum junior high school cafeteria, at 10 p.m. on Nov. 18 meeting. The "hop" is the Christmas party for the Barnum band and orchestra members. George Willetts is general chairman for the party. Other chairmen are: Mrs. C. Sutherland, A. Raffaele, E. Field, D. Bartlett, and Mrs. S. Richards.

To Build 4-Story Apartments, Needs Decree Modified

A luxurious, 4-story apartment building, complete with underground parking and elevators, may go on the west side of Woodward north of Oak street if Birmingham city officials eventually approve. Under terms of a court decree, the property may not be so used, petitioner and new owner Wallace J. Newton points out. He was advised first to talk his proposal over with the city plan board.

Because of the lowness of this particular site, Newton said the 4-story arrangement would not be much higher than lower apartments now on land adjoining his.
