Saturday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. Robert Hamill had to pass the time of day with a skeleton before they could enter the Hamill's home.

The skeleton (a real one, but slightly the worse for wear, a Halloween gift from Mr. Hamill's brother, a doctor) had found a comfortable chair on which to sit just outside the front door of the Hamill's North Glenhurst road home.

Their guests who were from Grand Rapids, Holland, and Chicago were a group of University of Michigan alumni who had been out to the homecoming game at Ann Arbor, had stopped at the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity house, and had come back to the Hamilla for an informal supper.

Another Saturday evening supper party with Halloween decorations (but no skeleton) was at the Bloomfield Hills home of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Hedrick of Thetford lane. The group which met at their home is primarily a neighborhood pot-luck supper and bridge group from a Birmingham area.

Members of the group are Mr. and Mrs. George R. Squibb, Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Finkenauer, Jr., and Dr. and Mrs. James H. Van Doren, all of North Glenhurst drive, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Bird of Lombard, and Mrs. William R. Morgan of Brookwood court, the Earl J. Conway, now of Foxchase road and Mrs. Margaret B. DeNador, now of North Darlington road.

The Conways were unable to attend Saturday night's supper because they had traveled to Mt. Vernon college to see their daughter, Sue.

The previous week end the Hedricks had visited their daughter, Barbara, at Denison University. Mrs. Hedrick's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Albert N. Marshall, who have returned from Germany, where he was in service, have just re-established residence in Birmingham by moving into the Colonial court terraces.

The Junior Fred J. Finkenauer will spend Thanksgiving week-end in Ithaca, New York, for a dual purpose: to see their son, Fred E. Finkenauer (who attends Cornell university), and to spend some time with Mrs. Finkenauer's mother, Mrs. Ernest Button, who lives in Ithaca.

Last Monday Mrs. Finkenauer entertained her book review group, named the Elizabeth Barrett Browning group, a branch of the AAUW.

A group of Birmingham people who attended the homecoming game attended at Ann Arbor left by bus from the DAC and returned there after the game as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jack T. Henry, of Sunningdale drive. They were the Robert L. Ganters of North Glenhurst, the B. W. Crandells, of Pleasant street, the Paul Foley of Willow lane, the Richard S. Isaacs of Kimberly road, the Ralph O. Moores of Southfield township, the Richard C. Woodhouses of Orchard Way and the W. Calvin Pattersons of E. Surrey road.

The Richard C. Pages of Vinewood street, stopped in at the Delta Delta house (Mrs. Page's daughter) in Ann Arbor after seeing the game Saturday.

In Bloomfield Hills, Cranbrook school was also celebrating "home" (See SOCIETY NOTES, Page 6-C)
