

Dateline Derby

They Start Fresh With New Faces

By BRENDA DRUMM

Derby's intellectuals, the National Junior Honor society held its first meeting last week. The officers this year are as follows: Tim Macker, president; Jerry Lohla, vice-president; Barb Maxson, secretary; and Diane Bradford, treasurer. The society is now discussing means of raising money for a plaque to be exhibited in the school.

Mrs. Pierce and Miss Switzer are the co-sponsors of the Honor society.

THE DATALINE staff and the yearbook staff are getting under way.

The Dataline editors are, Ginny Hizar, editor-in-chief, and Jerry Stone, managing editor.

THE SPONSORS are Miss Carter and Mrs. Webb.

Derby expects to play five football games including the one played last night. The ninth grade coaches are Mr. Keller and the eighth grade coach is Mr. Gotchalk.

Speaking of football, Derby's band is now beginning an annual ritual of marching on our football field, so don't be surprised if you hear a loud march coming through your classroom window.

THE PURPOSE in this practice is the last home game a team in which all the junior highs and the high school bands participate in a special program.

The student council representatives were chosen Monday morning during homecoming. The meeting was held third hour yesterday.

Marian Hi

They Parlez, Or Will Soon At Any Rate

By CAROL JURICA

A, B, C, D... La je sais mon alphabet, Dit's moi si ce n'est pas gai.

It sounded like the first grade at Marian last week as the French students recited their alphabet. We had fun though, and will soon be able to have a conversation with any stray Frenchmen we happen to meet.

WEDNESDAY, Sept. 23, at Marian's weekly assembly, the president and vice-president of the freshman class were elected by ballot. Later in the week, on Friday, the secretary and treasurer were selected.

The new officers are: president, Marsha Phillips; vice-president, Sharon Michaels; secretary, Ann Fischer and treasurer, Sue Diehl.

Marian's student library was opened this week. It is a beautiful room full of reference books and fiction. Sr. Maureen, mathematics teacher, will run it.

OUR NEW GYMNASIUM will soon be complete also, and the girls are looking forward to the day that it will be usable.

Climaxing Marian's contact program was a contest held recently among the girls to determine who met the most girls since the opening of school.

The winner was Jane Nagle, Holy Name parish, who was awarded a rather large blue ribbon distinguishing her as "Miss Cordiality of 1959." Congratulations, Jane!

Indian Guides Sleeping Out

A committee of five chaired by Walt Fry have made plans for the second annual fall overnight at Camp Ojibwa, northwest of Ford. Braves who like boating, canoeing, hiking and good food must register by Oct. 3.

Highlight of the program Saturday evening will be Homer Roberts, associate director of Camp Mahn-go-tah-see. Roberts is a nationally known authority on nature lore. He is also consultant in nature study to the American Camping association.

ROBERTS will speak to big and little braves at 8 p.m. Saturday evening Oct. 10. A special meeting with date is being held after laps. His subject will be "Relationship between father and son in outdoors."

This overnight looks like a tremendous experience, according to George King, YMCA, Youth Director.

The first 120 braves to register will be housed in the heated cabin in South Camp.

The date of the overnight is Oct. 10 and 11.

Cranbrook Corridor

A Capacity, Cosmopolitan Crowd Here

By DON CUMMINGS

Classes resumed at Cranbrook on Wednesday Sept. 23 with a full capacity enrollment of 371.

Among the new students this year are a good number who have come long distances, including Timothy Morgan from Sussex England, James Ruiz from Puerto Rico, Leslie McCoy from Saudi Arabia, and Cranbrook's fourth American Field Service exchange student, Marcus Antonius de Lucena, from Brazil.

THE CRANBROOK faculty has an addition of four new masters for the 1959-60 school year. Mr. James Stevens, Mr. William Hartford, Mr. John Albrecht, and Mr. Otis Saeter.

Mr. Stevens is teaching Spanish and will assist in coaching various athletics. Mr. Hartford is teaching Latin and speech, and Rev. Albrecht will assist Rev. Young in the Religion department. Mr. Saeter will teach woodworking in the shop.

Cranbrook was pleased to play an important part in "Operation Friendship," a plan which introduced 155 new foreign students to America and our way of life.

THE STUDENTS lived with families in Bloomfield Hills and Birmingham from Sept. 11 to 13 and are now studying at the University of Michigan. The students received a guided tour of Cranbrook and attended lectures and discussions in the Cranbrook auditorium.

The 1959-60 social year began with an exchange dinner for Kingswood and Cranbrook on Friday, Sept. 25.

The freshmen and sophomores from Cranbrook dined with their Kingswood classmates at Kingswood while the Cranbrook upperclassmen played host to the Kingswood juniors and seniors.

THE EVENING proved both interesting and exciting and was followed by movies in the Cranbrook auditorium.

On Saturday Sept. 26 the Church cabinets of Kingswood and Cranbrook sponsored the annual Get-Acquainted dance, from 8 to 11 p.m. in the Cranbrook auditorium.

After a somewhat doubtful start, the new Cranbrook students gathered enough courage to approach the pretty Kingswoods and the dance turned into a success.

Dance to Records At Derby, Oct. 9

Derby's first record hop of the year will be held Oct. 9. The camping and trip club, the cheerleaders and the basketball team are sponsoring it. With date or come stag, all are welcome.

The same old rule stands for bringing dates from other schools; his or her name must be given to Mr. Keller.

"By the way—a bit of gossip: We are expecting a terrific disc jockey," one student reports, "who has never been equalled in his dedication to rock 'n' roll. Guess Who?"

Scientists can now watch and measure growth in a living cell with a new kind of X-ray machine developed by a California scientist.
