

S. S. John C. Hay Christened

FOXcroft—A great Lakes shipping firm paid tribute recently to a Michigan banker and the banking profession when the Browning Lines, Inc., named its newly acquired freighter the S. S. John C. Hay, in honor of the president of the Michigan Bank, Detroit. Looking down from the bridge during the tour of the ship are Capt. M. D. Ramage (right) and Capt. Ramage, at 6281 W. Surrey, Foxcroft. Hay, who lives in the tradition of the sea, presented Hay with the remnants of the silk-covered champagne bottle encased in a small walnut chest with a gold plaque commemorating the event. Hay, in turn, presented the crew with a ship's clock and compass. His wife, Betty, and daughter, Mrs. Holly Oppenhuizen of Lansing, were present at the celebration.

Howard Kehrls Return to Visit Gilbert Neighbors

GILBERT LAKE — Neighbors on South Millerway enjoyed a visit last week from Howard Kehrl who spent several days with Dr. and Mrs. Edward Conner of South Millerway. The Kehrl family moved to Massachusetts last spring.

Many nice things are happening on East Millerway this weekend and they all center around the Sunday christening of the Frank Rockwell's son, Edward Claypoole. Christening ceremony will be at St. Andrew's church in Ann Arbor and Mrs. Rockwell's mother, Mrs. T. R. Peirson will give a tea following the ceremony.

Former residents of East Millerway, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Lindquist arrived from New Canaan, Conn., today to be the baby's godparents along with Robert G. Begle of East Millerway. Mrs. Begle invited a few close neighbors to luncheon today for Mrs. Lindquist. Tomorrow evening the Robert Dusseaux of Carriage road are giving a dinner party for the Lindquists.

Mrs. Robert Egan, Jr. of East Millerway motored to Virginia

WING LAKE—Celebrating her tenth birthday last week was Betty Seibert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald L. Seibert of Indianwood Trail. Betty invited Linda Heukema and Pam Coburn to have dinner with her at Ted's on Monday and she treated her classmates to cake and ice cream on Tuesday.
