MR. AND MRS. ROBERT MORROW

St. James Church Scene of Ceremony

Marilyn Joan Korol became the bride of Robert Alton Morrow October 3 at St. James church in Ferndale.

The bride, daughter of the Stephen George Korols of Ferndale, wore a silk taffeta gown designed with a scalloped alencon lace neckline, three quarter length sleeves and pleated panels blended into a traditional chapel length train.

HER HEAD-PIECE, a delicate cap of taffeta and seed pearls secured her fingertip veil of silk illusion. She carried a cascade of white carnations, stephanotis and lilies.

CHRISTINE BONGER, maid of honor, wore a red chiffon gown with matching hat and veil and carried a cascade of white baby-poppoms.

HUGH MORROW, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Morrow of Merrill street, Birmingham, was his brother's best man.

Karen Marie Korol, the bride's niece, was flower girl. She wore pink organdy and carried pale pink poppoms.

USHERING were Stephen Korol, Clayton Cogswell, Greg Fredericks, Bill Kelley and Clayton Chamaine.

The bride's mother wore a champagne pean de soie sheath with a matching hat. The groom's mother selected an autumn green dress, matching hat and veil and carried both mothers had white orchid a cascade of white baby-poppoms.

No one could have been more surprised than Mr. and Mrs. George W. Romney of East Valley road, when they learned that their picture was shown on the 11 o'clock news on television last Thursday as part of the crowd in the lobby for the opening of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra season.

The opening night crowd had apparently been put on film and shown minutes later on the news program.

The Romneys and the Robert Wardrop of Tusculum road attended the symphony together, dining first at the Detroit club.

Last Friday evening the Roy E. Stringers of Stratford lane, entertained for dinner Mr. and Mrs. Fred M. Harley of Brookwood court, Dr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Wilkinson of Arlington drive, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Surridge of North Glenhurst drive—all former neighbors.

Mrs. Stringer's mother Mrs. Milton Tibbetts, arrived Sunday from her home in Whittier, California, for a two-week visit with the Stringers.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Morgan of Arlington drive, had house guests from Toledo over the week end—Mr. and Mrs. Leon T. Ellis. Mr. Morgan and Mr. Ellis first met each other at the University. Both couples being great football fans, they attended the Michigan-Oregon State game Saturday in Ann Arbor and the Detroit Lions-Baltimore Colts game in Detroit Sunday.

Entertaining after the Lion's game Sunday were the E. A. Andersons of Long Pine court. Honor guests were former Bloomfield Hills residents, from Greenwich, Conn., Fritz C. Hydes, who were house guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Anderson, in their new home, 235 Harlan drive, Bloomfield Hills.

The David W. Lees of Pembroke drive, gave dinner party for the Hydes, Friday evening. The Edward A. Proctors had a luncheon at Orchard Lake Country club Saturday, and the Andersons entertained at dinner Saturday evening for their guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Ferguson of Quorton road, who moved here last summer, were entertained Friday evening at a small cocktail party by the Charles S. Himes of Lakeside drive. Mrs. Himes and Mrs. Ferguson knew each other at Wheaton college, in Massachusetts.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Warner returned Saturday from their Lake-side drive home from a trip to New York where they stayed at the Waldorf Astoria, home of the famous Round Table. It was a business trip for Mr. Warner, who visited "The Cloisters," and made the rounds of the bookstores. They saw Sir John Gielgud in "Much Ado About Nothing," which is at the beautiful new Lincoln Center. They also saw "Sweet Bird of Youth," "Hairs in the Sun," "The Merchant of Venice" and "The Three Penny Opera."

At the Lambic Club, they met John McCabe, Shakespearean professor at N.Y.U. They ate French food, Persian food, Italian food in Greenwich village they visited Mrs. Nathaniel Doughty, formerly of Birmingham.

The Village Women's Club drama class, conducted by Mrs. Warner, held its first meeting yesterday.

Partridge shooting at Gaylord over the week end were Mr. and Mrs. Jack U. Klarr of Chesterfield road, as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Weedon, at their Coyote Lodge.

An annual affair enjoyed by friends of the G. W. Weirs, of Chesterfield road, is a family picnic and touch football game. Fathers, sons, and daughters all participate in the game. It is held on the grounds of Mr. Weir's father, Mr. Charles F. Heilman of Cranbrook road in Bloomfield Hills.

Mr. Heilman, himself, just returned from an extensive tour through Africa and Egypt, bringing home many souvenirs such as ancient spears which had to be practically put under lock and key when the Weir's friends' children descended upon him.

Families participating in the picnic which was held a week ago Sunday were the Edgar Jolys, the Lee Vincents, the Bud Paytons, the Rock O'Connors, the Charles Coffins, the Robert Pokorneya, the Jack U. Klarr, and the John Grainger—all from the Birmingham area, and the Glen Johnsons and Charles Brethans from Grosse Ile.

The Weirs spent last week in New York City, where they enjoyed "The Music Man" and "Flower Drum Song."

As Needlework Guild ingathering date approaches, many directors have ingatherings of their own beforehand to which they invite members of their group. Mrs. Carl F. Fischer had a coffee Friday morning at her home on Lyonhurst drive. Members invited were Mesdames William M. Kelly, Paul Voss, Willard Vandewater, John Allan, Lawrence A. Freese, Pete Estes, Newell H. McQueen, Larry Norton, William Michaels, Harry T. O'Connor, Gardner F. Allen, and Norman Fredericks.

An open house was held at the Bardeen road home of Mrs. Dean A. Draper Monday morning. Needlework Guild members invited were Mrs. Eli Alexander, Mrs. N. E. Brown, Jr., Mrs. Ray Cragin, Mrs. Robert E. Day, Mrs. Harry
