Brisk fall weather and the football season were the inspiration for many events in Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills last weekend. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Mestier Jr., of Puritan road, Mr. and Mrs. Francis C. McMath of Bradway, and Mr. and Mrs. William A. McNamee of Chesternfield road, attended the Detroit Lions' game together Sunday, after which they returned to the Mestiers' for dinner.

Co-hosts for cocktails and supper after the Lions' game were Mr. and Mrs. Leon J. Hart of Puritan road, and Mr. and Mrs. F. and Mrs. Henry Hodge Brewer, who arrived Friday from Cleveland, Ohio. Saturday evening, the foursome had cocktails and dinner at Orchard Lake country club, where they were joined by the Frederick L. Robinsons of Pilgrim road, the May Dalbergers of Lone Pine road, and the Frederick S. Strongs III of Vaughan road.

Mr. Brewer and Mr. Strong discovered that they had gone to St. Paul's school, in Concord, N. H., together. To renew old acquaintances the Strongs invited the Brewers over for cocktails on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Hunt Weber, Jr., of Lake Park drive also saw the game at Ann Arbor with their weekend house guests: Mr. Weber's mother, Mrs. Winthrop Weber, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Whedon, of Bronsville, N. Y.

Other Birminghamites in Ann Arbor for the game were Dr. and Mrs. Robert M. Bookmyer of Puritan road, the Lawrence M. Finns of Stanley boulevard, the George A. Gantricks of Kennesaw, and the Walter J. Jennings of Lake Park drive, who, much to the dismay of their friends, will soon be moving to Los Angeles, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Goad of Suffield road, who both graduated from the University of Illinois, attended the homecoming game there last weekend. After the game they proceeded to the Sigma Chi house for an alumni party.

Three couples from this area were in Detroit Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Gates of Suffield road, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Parks, Jr., of Frank street, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Thompson, Jr., of Bloomfield township.

Mutual friends of theirs own a log cabin in Amherstburg, Ontario. The cabin is about 150 years old and constructed, completely of hickory logs. It has an enormous fireplace and a herbaceous stove. Their ducks are cleaned for them while the guests are served dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Gordon Davis returned to their Buckingham road home last week after closing their cabin at Higgins Lake. Their daughter Marilyn was with them. Marilyn's fiancé, Richard Johnston, joined them for the weekend. He is currently at school in Big Rapids.

The Davises will be off to Florida next week for a three week trip, combining business with pleasure.

The Harry D. Wises of Westwood drive, returned from an eight-day trip to New York last Friday, just in time to take in the Quanton School Fair with their three young boys.

While in New York they stayed at the Waldorf, they saw "La Plume de Ma Tante" and "The Pleasure of His Company" and they visited friends. On their way home they stopped off to visit friends in Philadelphia and Cleveland.

Also just returned from New York are Mrs. Gordon A. DeBoard of Pilgrim road, and her mother, Mrs. W. S. Gray of Huntington Woods, who make this trip together an annual event. Staying at the Biltmore, they saw six plays in one week: "Marriage Go Round," "La Plume de Ma Tante," "Destiny Hides Again," "The Women Men," "Sweet Bird of Youth," and "Majority of One."

They met Mrs. Richard P. Sharpe, of Bloomfield township, and her mother, Mrs. Miller Bushnell, of Bloomfield Hills; and the foursome dined together at Luchow's.

Mrs. James L. Cameron, Jr., of Suffield road, and Mrs. W. Kent Rarney of Bradway, both new Needlework Guild directors, had coffee last week for their members before their ingathering today at the Community house.

Acting as hosts at Cranbrook house next Tuesday evening for the Cranbrook Music Guild concert will be Mrs. LeRoy E. Kiefer, hospitality chairman, and members of the board. At the coffee table after the concert will be Mrs. Benjamin Brewer (the Guild's first president), Mrs. LeRoy Dahlberg, Mrs. Max H. Fraust (Mr. Fraust is this year's president), and Mrs. Henry S. Booth.

New members of the Village Women's club will be honored at a tea on Oct. 28 at Mrs. George C. Booth's home. New Senior members are Mrs. J. E. Annett, Mrs. E. H. Baker, Mrs. John Blomquist, Mrs. David G. Booth, Mrs. C. B. Bredlove, Mrs. Edward B. Brehm, Mrs. Charles W. Burgess, Mrs. Paul Connolly, Mrs. R. J. Corkery, Mrs. Harold A. Cousins, Mrs. James L. Cox, Mrs. Lloyd H. Diehl, Jr., and Mrs. William E. Douglas.
