The Ruth Shain Class on international relations, now in its 40th year, had its first meeting Tuesday at 10 A.M. at the Community house. Also first meeting sponsored by the AAUW, the class is open to any interested person.

After three months in Europe, traveling the back roads and seeking out the unusual spots, accompanied by a friend from California who has taught European history, Mrs. Shain will bring some refreshing ideas to her course of which the theme this year is the historical bases for the world scene.

This has been Mrs. Shain's fifth trip abroad in the last ten years. She feels that each country is still distinctive, with its own customs and modes. Mrs. Shain attended the international federation of university women's triennial conference in Helsinki, Finland.

Also recently returned from Europe are Mr. and Mrs. John W. Sheenfield, of Bennington drive. One of the reasons for their journey was to visit the gardens of the country houses. They found the Scottish countryside beautiful. They also enjoyed art museums in Spain.

Their favorite spot, however, was London and its environs. While in London they saw quite a few plays, among which were "The Grass Is Greener," "The Unexpected Guest" (Agatha Christie's new best thriller), and "Five Finger Exercise."

erise," which is coming to Broadway soon.

Leaving next Tuesday for Paris are Mr. and Mrs. Francis Cogdill of Buckleburgs, Conn. Combining business with pleasure, they will fly directly to Paris, and from there they will probably visit Geneva and London. They will return in time to celebrate Thanksgiving with their family.

Hardly with time to unpack their suitcases from one weekend to the next, the Dean Coffins, of North Woodward avenue, have made the trek to Hudson, Ohio, for every Western Reserve academy football game this fall. Their twin sons, Fred and Will, both play on the team.

This coming weekend the Western Reserve team is here to play against Cranbrook school. The Coffins are expecting a household full of youthful weekend guests, but at least they will not have to pack a suitcase!

A gloomy afternoon last Friday was brightened for the Birmingham-Bloomfield alumnae of Pine Manor junior college by the Rose Hanson's North Glenhurst drive home was the scene of a tea honoring William Bridges, dean of admissions, who has been on an extensive tour of the Midwest, interviewing students.

Birmingham has recently attracted many visitors from out of town. Mr. and Mrs. Carl T. Guething of Kenesaw road, have had as their guests the Rev. John Hubson of Harbour Island, in the Bahamas.

The Everett E. Fishers had guests from Dallas, Texas last weekend at their Lone Pine road home—the Hugh Petersons, dean of their arrival. Mrs. Fisher had enjoyed a few days of hunting at her summer home on Bois Blanc island.

Also on a hunting trip last week was James R. David of Chesterfield road. He was joined in Fort Haron by four Grosse Pointe friends. They hunted in nearby Richmond.

Mr. and Mrs. William L. Graham of Wembleton road, who returned a week ago Sunday from Hamilton, Ohio, where they visited Mrs. Carl Wilson, have had as their houseguests this past weekend former Birmingham residents, Mr. and Mrs. William T. Cushing. Saturday evening the Cushing and the Grahams were entertained by the William L. Mahons of Brookdale road, at Orchard Lake country club for dinner; Sunday noon Mr. and Mrs. Alfred La Belle, of 13 Mile road entertained the foursome.

Another former Birmingham resident, Karl Herrick, who is staying in Warren, Mich., with his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Herrick, was honor guest at a supper party Sunday evening at the Wembleton road home of Mrs. Angus D. McLay.

Another former Birmingham resident, Mrs. Harold J. Thompson, who used to live on Henley drive, came from her home in Eau Claire, Wisconin, to be Mrs. McLay's house-guest last week. This week she is the houseguest of Mrs. F. H. McKinney, of Valley View lane.

A number of people have entertained for Mrs. Thompson, among whom are Mrs. McLay and Mrs. McKinney. Mrs. Norman M. James invited Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. McLay for dinner last week. Mrs. Lois T. Place of Valley View lane entertained for her. Mrs. Paul Tod Reed, of Wembleton road, who was Mrs. Thompson's neighbor for many years, entertained for her at a small tea Tuesday afternoon.

A busy weekend is in store for Birminghamites, with little ghosts and goblins terrorizing the town. But the children are not going to have all the fun. Mr. and Mrs. William J. Scripps, of Bennington drive, are entertaining 125 friends Saturday night at the Bloomfield Open Hunt club for cocktails, dinner and dancing. The decorations will be in keeping with the Halloween spirit.

The Bloomfield Hills country club will be the scene of a 12:30 brunch Sunday, hosted by the William C. Newbergs.

Quite a few families will be attending the "homecoming" game Saturday in Ann Arbor. Among them will be the Frederick A. Erbs of Suffield road, with their children, Rick, Wendy, Lenley, and John.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh R. Mack, Jr., who have been kept busy lately preparing to move from their present home on Latham road to a newly purchased home on Pilgrim road, will take time off Saturday to attend the "homecoming" game, followed by an open house at the Chi Psi fraternity house.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur N. Hill of Buckingham road, will also attend "homecoming." Mrs. Hill, a native of Ann Arbor, plans to visit with her family after the game.

Are you thinking of buying a new house? Then read the "For Sale—Houses" columns on the Classified Ad pages of this week's Eccentric.

Vows Heard In Rochester Saturday

St. Paul's Methodist church in Rochester was the scene Saturday for the marriage of Carole Bird and Robert E. Chekaluk. The Rev. J. Douglas Parker performed the 8 o'clock ceremony in the presence of 300 guests.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George G. Bird of Rochester. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mac Chekaluk of Hazel street, Birmingham.

A crown of sequins and seed pearls secured her fingertip veil of silk illusion. A cascade of mums and stephanotis centered with a white orchid completed the bridal picture.

SANDRA RUFFNER was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Neil Dorsey, Jr., stood as best

MRS. ROBERT CHEKALUK

Nancy Noyes, Marcella Blake, and Mrs. Marvin Hennin. Maid of honor wore a moss green velvet dress with a matching velvet crown and carried orange pom-pom mums. Attendants were avacado green velvet dresses with matching velvet crowns and carried cascades of gold pom-pom mums.
