Seventeen other local teenagers were on the Chet Sampson tour last August. From Bloomfield Hills high school were Chris Hubert and Henry Van Vurst. Seaholm students were Misses Warren and Thompson, Emily Minor, Guntner, Jane Slater, Julie Snelham, Kitty Hinman, Gerry Green, Bill Ellis and Pete Comenski. Steve Brown, Bob Edders and Chad Erwin were Cranbrook students who took the tour.

Dateline Derby

Everything Seems To Succeed

By BRENDA DRUMM

Derby's ninth grade all-star team beat Groves last Friday night 15-0. Both touchdowns were scored by Vince Rogers. Mark Livermore made a spectacular run, nearly the length of the field, for a touchdown, but unfortunately there was a blocking penalty on Derby.

The United Foundation Drive was a great success, approximately $900.00 was raised. Mr. Dequ's homeroom raised the most money. By box auctioning, slave auctioning, and general contributions, they were able to raise $91.49. Mrs. Thorp's homeroom and Mr. Murray's were the runners-up.

FRIDAY NIGHT, weather permitting, Derby's band II, along with bands from Seaholm, Birmingham and Groves will perform a special halftime show.

Besides the game being Seaholm's last home game, it is also dedicated to "Dad's" class. The bands will form several spectacular formations, one in honor of Dad.

A NOTE FOR all "Junior High Gobblins" Come to Derby Saturday night to the big Halloween party. There will be movies, dancing, bingo games and refreshments for all.

Last Friday, Derby had a very distinguished guest, Mr. Haboush. Mr. Haboush was born in Lebanon and educated in the United States. Mr. Haboush gave a very interesting and amusing talk. He showed some very beautiful, hand-made tapestries from the Holy Land.

The first edition of the Derby Dateline, school newspaper, came out last week. One of the highlights of the paper was an article to the students by Mr. Burchyett, and an article on Mr. Jens, ninth-grade counselor.

Would You Take The Chance?

Back in ancient Greece, people who were going on trips would often leave their valuable belongings in a temple—unguarded. They believed thieves would be afraid to steal anything out of a sacred place.

That system may have worked in those days, I don't know. But I'd hate to try it, even if I had a Greek temple handy. (For one thing, it would be an awful lot of trouble to move everything out of the house each time the family wanted to go away for the weekend!)

Nowadays, sound insurance protection for property—your house, your car, your jewelry, and so on—takes a lot of the risk out of living. But so far as I know the only way you can be sure to get the right insurance for your property at the right price is by asking an independent insurance agent.

As an independent agent, I have no reason to favor one insurance company over another. My aim is to get each of my clients exactly the insurance policy that gives the protection he needs—without costing him any more than necessary. Why not let me study your insurance needs? I won't charge you a cent—and I may be able to save you money.

They Liked It? Oh Well, Parents Are That Way

Parents and teachers agreed that Southfield's first Go-To-School night last Wednesday was highly successful.

Parents of Southfield students were handed schedules to follow and in spite of a little confusion finding their classes in the allotted five minutes between classes, most parents made their classes on time.

INSTRUCTOR Doreen Picard was pleased and amazed when she told her first class of parents in American government, "If you were attending my regular first hour class, I would tell you right now to get out your notebooks. The entire group of parents were prepared, each one had come armed with a notebook as instructed by their senior class offspring.

Art instructor Robert Neff asked his class of parents if they had any questions. The parents were displayed in Neff's Thursday morning classes. Comments by parents handed in to Principal Robert Hall were enthusiastic and complimentary and favored another Go-To-School night.

JUNIORS AT Southfield will have their eyes tested Nov. 2-6. Assistant Principal Richard Fishbeck announced this week.

The program, designed to point out students with study deficiencies that may be caused by poor eyesight, is co-sponsored by the Southfield board of education and the Oakland county board of health.

Two mothers who attended high school together and had not seen each other since, found themselves occupying neighboring seats in the same classroom again during wished to attend last Friday's game with Pontiac Northern, but umbrellas would have been better. The pouring rain played havoc with the home-coming floats in the parade. Pontiac Northern had planned for half time and made the field a sea of mud.
