Watch Out For Kids, Police Ask

"We are striving for a return-to-school period this year without one serious traffic accident involving any of our children."
That was the challenging goal set for Birmingham motorists and parents by Lt. Robert Schaulé, commanding officer of the Birmingham police department traffic safety bureau.

"THERE'S NO question but that this goal will be difficult to achieve," said Schaulé. "Thousands of children will be going to school for the first time. Other thousands will again be crossing busy, dangerous streets—streets they had no need to cross during the summer. But if parents instruct their children to cross only at designated places and if they teach their youngsters to obey the safety patrol boys always, our chances will be increased," he said.

"At the same time motorists must exercise greater alertness whenever they see children on the sidewalk.

"A YOUNGSTER has to forget only for a moment and dart into the street into the path of a car," he continued. "If the driver isn't alert, he may be involved in a serious accident."

Schaulé said that the child accident record so far this year was encouraging. Injuries and fatalities to child pedestrians and bicycle riders are below that of last year.

"This record is encouraging, but we want to make it even better," he continued. "We can do it with the co-operation of drivers and parents in this dangerous back-to-school period."

HE IS A member of the Washington board of trade, a past member of the Urban Renewal Council of the District of Columbia, and a former chairman of the Washington chapter, American Red Cross, fund raising drive. He is currently serving Kiwanis as chairman of the board committee on public relations.

Display Old Glory For Constitution Week, Urges DAR

Pointing out the importance for all Americans to observe Constitution Week, Sept. 17-23, Mrs. Newell Allen, president of the Birmingham Piety Hill Chapter of the DAR, suggested that householders hang out Old Glory Sept. 17.

"Amidst the hurry and bustle of today's world, it well behooves all Americans to pause and think about the greatest document ever written by free men: our U.S. Constitution," declared Mrs. Newell this week.

"This precious document is our charter that guarantees each of us life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. Every generation should read it, understand it, so that they can defend it during times of peace, as well as in war."

IN KEEPING with the spirit of Constitution Week, Piety Hill chapter at its recent meeting passed a resolution which included this appeal:
"Piety Hill Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, urge special attention to the Federal Constitution, and the display by all citizens of the Flag of the United States of America on CONSTITUTION DAY, September 17, plus the remaining six days of the week."

BITS OF BIRMINGHAM

Horticultural therapy, a new wrinkle in the care of the physically and mentally ill, was discussed in the September issue of 'Horticulture' in an article by Mrs. Alice Wesels Burlingame of Bloomfield township whose column 'Garden to Earth' appears weekly in The Eccentric. The magazine article titled "Gardening Brings New Hope and Health," pointed out that horticultural therapy gives the mentally disturbed relaxing occupation in a place of peace and a feeling of accomplishing results. It describes a gardening program being carried on at the Pontiac State hospital for emotionally disturbed adolescents where each patient is given a garden to tend. This program has been most valuable, Mrs. Burlingame said.

Two weeks ago Mrs. D. P. Wedel, 1289 N. Glenhurst, decided to scan The Eccentric's classified ads — her reason being that her family was moving to Pennsylvania for business changes, and wanted to sell their home. She read a brief "Wanted to Buy—Real Estate" classified. In a matter of a few hours she and her husband contacted the advertiser and a sale was made. "I cannot speak too highly of Eccentric classified ads," Mrs. Wedel declared. "I've used them in the past for other 'buy and sell' reasons—and they've always paid off for me."

Baldwin elementary school children will be aided by a new traffic signal at Chester and Maple—even if traffic doesn't get much assistance from it.

Birmingham city commission Tuesday night approved a signal installation which initially will be used only when children are on their way to or from school.

Commissioners indicated they might put the light on full-time operation if future conditions seem to warrant.

COMMISSIONERS Charles Renfrew and Lance C. Minor believe the main problem is traffic congestion.

If the problem is traffic congestion, I don't think this school signal idea will solve it," Renfrew commented.

This intersection is used heavily by motorists who are avoiding the left-turn lanes on intersections to the east. Chester also is a bypass around the northwest business quadrant.

This Is the Ford Falcon

The Ford Falcon, first of America's new two feet shorter and three-quarters of a size cars, represents a "breakthrough" in lighter than a standard 1959 Ford. Yet, the Falcon is a six-passenger car, with interior roominess approximating that of standard models.
