

Most of us emerge from childhood into attitudes that nurture the negatives of selfishness, intolerance, lack of kindly consideration for others, etc. We sort of react critically when we are met with problems, with barriers to ease, with little or big unpleasantness. Happy, then, are those who learn to look for and appreciate the pleasant things... since they do outnumber the negatives.

That's the Ups and Downs of Life!

WALNUT LAKE—Mrs. William Scollard, 4837 Kew Court, Walnut Lake, was rudely awakened to the fact last week that her trio of daughters are "growing up." Christina, 5; Roberta, 6; and Patricia, 8, are becoming more fashion-conscious these days and it looks like Poppa's charge account will mount. Either that or Patricia will pass things to Roberta and Roberta to Christina and Patricia will stand while the hems come down.

Fall Fashion Show Slated By Auxiliary

You will be wearing in November what you see in September at the St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Auxiliary Tea and Fashion Review from 1:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. Sept. 23, at the Elks Temple in Pontiac.

Kerns brings you the flavor of fashion on the continent, suburban as the station wagon and as refreshing as a day in the country. Sassy Betty brings you the town and country trends, plus the walking suit in blacks, blues and new autumn shades. With large pockets, bold colors and racoon trim, the coat can be used as an individual.

The fitted coachman type walking suit with the 38-inch double-breasted jacket with platter buttons and velvet collar and cuffs is one of the biggest changes in the fashions of today. The greatest male robbery comes to the prettiest roads in America with derbies.

THE SWEATER takes on the new applique, embroidery and fancy stitching, not to mention the zests and accents. Some will carry the belt poppies applied on black and white cardigans. Others will carry pearl and satin trim in all pastel shades. The sweater goes over the airy silk print from lunch to cocktail hour and the new stained glass church window print with low laying collar. The magnolia cashmere coat which comes to the fore is a must done in harem shades and saddle stitched with large collar and satin lined.

SIXTEEN MODELS will parade these lovely creations on a multi-colored ramp banked with mums and palms. Models are Mrs. Gay Moats, Mrs. Ronald Schmieding, Janet Marie Pearson, Mrs. H. R. Lilley, Mrs. Shirley Kallfisch, Mrs. May Knob, Mrs. Earl Barrows, Mrs. Leo Robertson, Mrs. Joseph Ruka, Mrs. Edwin Dubski, Mrs. Henry Sokol, Mrs. Richard Berg, Mrs. S. J. Pantowski, Mrs. John Casey, Mrs. Albert Chadeau and Mary Tanowski. Brenda Boachell is the page boy.

A DIXIELAND BAND and 40 door prizes including a cherry handmade jessie joint chair and a knit suit and custom hat will add to the enjoyment of the Tea and Fashion Review which is being held as a benefit for the St. Joseph Mercy hospital clinic. Tickets may be purchased at the door or by calling Mrs. Forrest Boraughan, 2190 Lancaster road, Mrs. Robert Tricker, 204 Dick Avenue, or Mrs. Arthur Kinney at St. Joseph Mercy hospital.
