

Getting Ready for the Show

What's better for a young artist to paint than a horse, reasons Colby Barnard, of 26580 Wellington, Franklin, Colby is one of the young artists whose work will be entered in a junior division of the arts and crafts show Sept. 19. The show will be held in conjunction with Franklin's eighth Round-up and Barbecue on the village green. Colby is the daughter of the Richard P. Barnards.

Six Daughters, Five Schools Mean Mom Meetings Galore

LATHRUP—Attending mothers' group meetings keeps Mrs. Richard Anderson hopping during the winter months. Her six school-attending daughters are divided among five schools. There's one more daughter—Jill—who is still at home. July attends Mercy College; Joan, Marygrove; Janet, Mercy high; Joyce, St. Michael's and Jackie and Jayne are enrolled at St. Bede's.

A motor trip around the Gaspe Peninsula proved exciting for the Robert Bowers of Dolores this summer. The 50th wedding anniversary of Mrs. Bowers' parents prompted another trip to New York state.

John and Betty Kohl of Rack-ham drive will host a potluck picnic next Sunday for approximately 110 persons. The picnic, an annual event for the Detroit Division of Investors Diversified Services, Inc., will be held in the Kohl garden.

Gathering up their family for school, the Gregz Deans collected Ricky and Shelley at Sterling, Michigan. The youngsters were visiting their grandparents Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Mutch.

Debbie Christensen returned from Camp Nissokone near Oscoda just in time for vacation with her parents at Vaillet Lake. Recent Christensen guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Christensen returning from a year in Oslo, Norway. The DeShones were on their way home to Elmhurst, Ill.

Taking advantage of the long Labor Day weekend, the Gene Peterson family made a round trip to Pennsylvania, combining business with sightseeing.

The first meeting of the fall season for the Lathrup Players will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Craig, 18774 Sunbrook, this evening at 8 p.m. Tryouts for a new play will be held. Anyone interested in dramatics or stage managements is invited to attend.

Bridge players in Lathrup will have the opportunity to play all the bridge they desire this winter. The Lathrup Woman's club is sponsoring bridge lessons, a contract tournament once a month in homes, a duplicate bridge tournament in the House-in-the-Woods for women and a mixed tournament scheduled for evenings at the House-in-the-Woods.

Lathrup DAR Plans Luncheon Monday

LATHRUP—The Three Flags chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution will open its fall season with a luncheon 12:30 Monday at the home of Mrs. George Staddon, 28770 Somerset, Lathrup. Mrs. Harry Alger and Mrs. Lee Stowell will be assistant hostesses.

Plans will be made to attend the regional meeting at Lapeer Sept. 28.

Lathrup Asks Federal Aid For 3rd Time

LATHRUP—For a third time—and with high hopes, Lathrup's council approved a resolution Tuesday night requesting a federal aid grant to help finance the steps necessary for sewage treatment to stop pollution.

In conjunction with the federal aid grant, a letter containing ten questions from Lathrup's letter-writing ex-mayor John G. Campbell was read.

"IT WOULD appear," said Mayor Richard N. Cogger, "that Mr. Campbell is still riding a horse that died three years ago."

13 New Students To Attend Church In Lathrup Sunday

LATHRUP—The Community Congregational church Sunday will be host to 13 new graduate students at the University of Michigan who have just arrived in this country from abroad and are taking special training at Cranbrook Institute.

Members of the church are entertaining them in their homes Friday and Saturday. Mrs. Norris Host is general chairman of the project for both the church and the university.

Sunday the church will resume its two identical services for both the church and church school at 10:30 and 11 a.m.

MANY CITIES owning combined systems are unable to separate sewage and storm water, but Lathrup was called "lucky" by Michigan health authorities because it is in a position to separate systems and cut down on costs.

City Administrator Jerald D. Stone told the council that Lathrup needs a tighter downspout ordinance to prevent storm water from flowing into the Evergreen inter-ceptor. Stone will work an amendment to the existing ordinance for presentation at a later date.
