Little League' Gridders Start Practice Sessions

Tryouts for the Birmingham Little League football teams started yesterday and will continue until the final selections are made during the week ending Sept. 19.

Interested youngsters between 9-12 may try out for the team in their area by contacting one of the managers of the varsity team or one of the three establishments in Birmingham.

Applications may be obtained from Starr Pearn, 1415 Birmingham, Birmingham; Robert A. Green, 1030 Covington, Bloomfield township; Martin Kenely, 1510 Groot, Bloomfield Hills, or Robert Wandel, 2251 Manchester, Birmingham.

They are also at the YMCA, 406 E. Lincoln; Farm's, 4310 N. Woodward, and the Varsity Shop, 277 Pierce.

Eleven-year-old boys not exceeding 85 pounds can play on the freshmen teams and 10-year-olds who exceed 95 pounds can play on the varsity.

An examination and approval from the family physician is required before a player can enter the league.

The Birmingham - Bloomfield school districts are divided into four areas.

and will practice at St. James field, the northern division is the area north of Maple between Woodward and Labser and will practice at Vaughn school. The eastern division is from the north of Maple between Woodward and Labser and will practice at Vaughn school. The western division is the area west of Cranbrook, south of Maple and west of Labser on the north side of Maple. It will practice at St. James field. Ready for That First Practice

Hopful candidates for the Seaholm high school football team tie up their shoelaces and make last minute adjustments in their shoulder pads before heading toward the field. From left are Dennis Hurd, Jeff Allen, and George Harris. They will continue the two-day workouts until school opens Sept. 18.

some of the reserves coming up turned in impressive performances last year.

A GLANCE at the linemen also brings smiles to the faces of many. At the end positions are Boyd Mayhew and Tom Moonen, both seniors, both 180 pounds with Hayhew having an inch advantage over the 6-1 Moonen.

Phil Isbell, 6-2, 215, and Bob McKenzie, 5-11, 185 fill up the tackle slots while Grant McLennan and Bob Kling, plug the holes at guard. McLennan, for the uninformed, is 5-11, 185 and Kling is a 6-footer weighing 215.

Nothing to be ashamed about as of yet.

YOUNGSTERS who will be doing the passing and running this season include Sam Reeve at full (5-11, 185), George Forrest at half (5-11, 170) and Steve Jacobson (6-2, 185) also at half.

To one who has been reading closely, it will be noticed that no quarterback has been listed. And a quarterback, it is generally admitted, is 25 per cent of the team.

The reason that a quarterback has not been listed is the fact that Lemle doesn't have one—yet.

LEMILE WILL HAVE to search among the halfbacks and among the reserves for a quarterback and there are some mentioned at the moment are Forrest and a defensive specialist named Chuck Hartung.

The coach, however, hates to move either player since Forrest is a running fool and Hartung has a mean streak in him when making tackles.

But the team still needs a quarterback and there are some younger players looking for the job.

At any rate, the Maples will provide local fans with football entertainment this fall . . . which is more than the Lions will be doing if they don't find a quarterback soon.

Along the Sidelines

Avid followers of the Seaholm high school football team (it's no longer Birmingham, contrary to the wishes of some students) are confidently predicting a championship this year.

There's only one little catch. So are the followers of the other five high schools in the Eastern Michigan League conference.

IT MUST BE admitted at this point, however, that local fans have more than just some justification for their boasts. Coach Carl Lemle must be labeled an optimist, but he also knows that the Eastern Michigan loop is one of the top prep conferences in the state.

In fact, it is usually listed among the top three, the other two being the Border Cities and Saginaw Valley.

If one may indulge in a bit of nostalgia, it may be recalled that last year's Birmingham high school went to the wire in the league race.

THAT ELUSIVE flag was lost in the final two weeks of the season. There are many reasons for the followers of the local 11 to be pleased over this year's team.

Coach Lemle has 12 veterans working out these days and

Special Deer Permits on Way to Dealers

LANSING, Sept. 3—Conservation department workers will begin mailing application cards for special deer hunting permits to some 4,200 license dealers in Michigan early next week.

Distribution should be completed by September 15, giving hunters until midnight, October 10, to submit their applications to the Department's Lansing office.

APPROXIMATELY 100,500 special permits will be offered covering 18,457 square miles in 39 food shortage and crop damage areas. About 55,205 permits were issued last year.

Some 90,500 permits will be available for "any deer" shooting in the northern lower peninsula while 35,500 permits will be offered to hunters above the Straits. The remaining permits will cover "any deer" hunting in the crop damage area of Allegan county.

Ladies Golf

The team of Hill and Hollingshead took a one-game lead in the Tuesday Ladies Springdale golf league this week. The top five teams in the league are still closely bunched with several weeks to go.

The standings:

Hill & Hollingshead	W. 1.
Allen & Yoder	66 42
Harshoff & Shand	64 44
Janice & Brennan	63 45
Stromer & Tibbitts	62 46
Fowler & Savage	55 53
Kessler & Olson	49 59
Beach & Prael	49 60
Flaming & Vanderhoff	49 62
Giggie & Stewart	54 71
