North Adams Residents Return from Vacations

NORTH ADAMS—Mrs. Fred E. Bigelow of North Adams road is back home after spending three months in Jamaica, British West Indies and Miami, Fla.

She stayed at the Aravak hotel, high in the mountains of Ocho Rios, the Tower Isle on the picturesque North Coast, the Half Moon and the Round Hill in Montego Bay. Many hours were spent with friends on motor trips through the scenic narrow country roads; in the market places and on the white sand beaches.

The last month was spent at the Kenilworth Motel in Miami before her trip homeward.

The Lawrence Hofstetters of Pine Hill drive spent three weeks touring Florida. They spent time in Fort Lauderdale, Daytona, Treasure Island and chose Ocala to celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary. They joined their neighbors for a day, the Baylors of Suttons of Pine Hill drive, who were also vacationing in Florida.

Mrs. Vera Rohmroser of Oakhill drive is back home after flying to Birmingham, Ala. for a two-week visit with her brother and family, the J. L. Lundquists.

Also on a trip through the south at the time was her son, Don, and friend, John Marten of Iron River, Mich. The boys, both polo victims in wheel chairs, took the mid-term break at Ferris Institute as an opportunity for a vacation. They motored to Fort Lauderdale, where they spent much of their time deep sea fishing and flying over the area. On one of their fishing trips the boys caught three Bonita weighing from 15 to 18 pounds. John also caught a 20-pound tuna.

The Lewis Horvaths of Hickory Heights drive are looking forward to Easter week when they will be motoring to Washington, D. C. with their daughters, Nancy and Janice. They plan to spend a few days touring the capital before going on to Williamsburg and Fredericksburg.

The Navajo and Shawnee tribes of the "Y" Indian Guides joined other "Birmingham" tribes last Thursday for their "Crow Moon Pow Wow" at Derby junior high school. The braves and little braves of each tribe brought their squaws, tans and princesses to make it a family affair.

The Detroit Indian dance team kept the audience spellbound with their costumes, chants and dances. In the finale they invited all the little braves to join them in the war dance.

Chief of the Navajo tribe is Bud Riching of Butternut Hill drive. The Shawnee tribe chief is William Route of Robson lane.

The Robert McNaughtons and daughters, Barbara and Christine, of Big Beaver road, moved to their new home in Glenview, a suburb of Chicago, last week. McNaughton was transferred there with the American Photography Co.

Many North Adams residents gathered Wednesday for telephone-bridges throughout the Harlan school area. The parties were a benefit for the schools PTA.

Hosting the overall affair was the ways and means chairman, Mrs. Fred Stickle of Stonyridge road. Assisting Mrs. Stickle on the telephone work was Mrs. Wallace Hudson of Stonyridge road. Among the hostesses entertaining in their homes for luncheon or dessert-bridge were: Mrs. William Patterson, Jr., of Watter's road; Mrs. Herbert Schiebold of Charing Cross road; Mrs. William Lyman, Jr., of Hickory Bend road; Mrs. Eugene Quackenbush of Burnley road; Mrs. John Adams of Ivy Lane; Mrs. Andrew Spencer of S. Evansdale road; Mrs. T. A. Ewing of N. Evansdale road.

Others included Mrs. George Platzner of Lanerigan drive, Mrs. Roland Starr of Oakhill drive, Mrs. Paul Lehman of Wendover road, Mrs. Donald Reid of Henhawk road, Mrs. Donald Combe of Parklane, Mrs. Frank Fonteniers of Orchard Hill drive, Mrs. James Minura of Haddington road, Mrs. Fred Trickey of Orchard Hill drive.

The Harlan school PTA will entertain parents April 13 with a "Spring Song Fest" by the students, under the direction of the music and instrumental teachers, Miss Carol Thome and Larry Franklin.

The program will consist of songs from "The Sound of Music", folk songs and round songs. The glee club, made up of fifth and sixth graders, will entertain with a series of songs. The orchestra has chosen waltz, march time for their selections.

There will also be an election of officers for next years PTA during the evening.

Thornwood residents gathered at the Upton road home of Mrs. Wellington Akin for a desert-bridge an afternoon last week. Participating were Mrs. Donald Smith, Mrs. Robert Schwab, Mrs. Fred Hatch, Mrs. William Gorenflo, Mrs. Roland Starr, Mrs. Vincent McCabe, Mrs. Carl Schorn.

Robert Schwab and daughter, Donna, of Oakhill drive, are planning a trip through New York during Easter week. They will visit Cornell university and Wells

FORMOSA—Marine Pfc. Thomas L. Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas G. Martin of 5280 Longmeadow, North Adams, and Marine Pfc. Alexander S. Patten Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Patten of 32897 Grimsby Lane, Franklin, took part in a huge amphibious landing exercise March 22 on Formosa's southern coast with units of the Okinawa-based Third Marine division.
