

Memo From Mulholland's

As we approach Easter Sunday, just a few last minute reminders for the man in your life.

Perhaps a tie by Wemyly or Regal, or from our jewelry selection a pair of cuff links. We have ash tray sets, too.

To put a big smile on his face, surprise him with a fine white dress shirt in one of our many styles by Manhattan or Arrow, to wear on Easter morning.

To everyone, a very Happy Easter.

THE GARDENER'S CORNER

The Answers to Your Gardening Questions by Bob

QUESTION OF THE WEEK:

How deep should the soil be prepared for a rose bed?

BOB'S ANSWER:

Experts suggest digging the soil in a rose bed to a depth of a foot and a half. A six inch layer of gravel installed before the worked soil is replaced will help give the roses good drainage.

Dateline Derby Honors—Big Ones—Due Soon

By BRENDA DRUMM

Spring is here and thoughts are turning to the biggest event in the year, the induction of members into the National Junior Honor society (N.J.H.S.).

Students with "B" averages through the seventh, eighth, and ninth grade are eligible. Last week students received slips notifying them of their eligibility. Candidates are required to write a small essay giving evidence of their leadership and service to Derby, which, added to scholarship, will be the basis of the final selection by the faculty.

The N.J.H.S. assembly will be in the first week of May. Candidates for membership have been arranging meetings with each of his ninth-grade students (future Seashell sophomores) and their parents concerning the schedules which they will be following in the tenth, eleventh and twelfth grades.

With the wide variety of courses being offered, ninth-grade students are eagerly awaiting an interesting year beginning next fall.

The dance sponsored by the band, which was scheduled for April 8, has been postponed until May 6.

The band which has been working hard for a first division rating at the state festival in Saginaw will have more time to plan the dance after the April 23 date.

Dateline staff members have been busy as bees, buzzing through the ninth grade, studying last wills and testaments from each ninth-grade student.

The wills will be published in the last issue of the Derby Dateline, which will be dedicated to the

Cranbrook Corridor

By BOB HUGHES

Vacation ended Tuesday night, April 5 as boarding students turned, some with Florida tans, some with new ski patches, and some with tears.

A few, however, did not quite make it. Ted Baldwin lost his appendix in Williamburg, Va., and will return this week.

Mr. James Stevens, beloved coach and Spanish teacher, was halted by Mississippi floods on his way back from Phoenix, Ariz. Having surmounted this obstacle, he was finally halted when the notorious Stevens Oldsmobile dropped its engine. He was last seen walking east on the Indiana turnpike.

The Kingswood-Cranbrook church cabinet held a conference April 5 in the South houses for juniors and seniors of both schools.

The topic was The Eastern World: Religion and Changing Culture. After an introduction by the Rev. Walter H. Young, Cranbrook chaplain, who served as moderator, a panel of students from Wayne State university representing Buddhist, Hindu, Taoist and Moslem faiths answered a prepared set of questions, followed by open discussion from the floor.

The purpose of the conference was to develop some idea of how the religions and culture of the eastern world are withstanding western ideas, particularly the influence of industrialism.

Briefing sessions have begun for the annual Kingswood-Cranbrook History seminar.

A series of lectures by members of the Cranbrook history department will provide lectures and discussions by guest speakers, attended by students and seniors of both schools later this Spring. The topic this year is United States foreign aid policy.

ninth grade. Sounds interesting! Tonight began the welcome Easter vacation for heretics. As usual we expect many brown faces to return April 23 from sunning on the sands of Florida.

Marian Hi Ceremonies Of Easter Explained

By CAROL JURICA

Wednesday, April 6, Fr. Walter J. Schoenherr of St. Bede's parish was invited to Marian to speak to the student body about the liturgy of the Church during the final weeks of Lent—Palm Sunday thru Easter Sunday.

Father explained the customs and the original practices of the holy weeks. He also told the students about the services that St. Bede's will hold during Passion time.

Father Schoenherr, whose travels have taken him to Rome and the Holy Land, brought with him an exact duplicate of one of the original mass used by Jesus Christ. The girls passed it around, observing its quarter-inch thickness and five-inch length.

He traced the liturgy from Adam to Moses to the birth of Christ, His Redemption, and His Resurrection; From the Old Testament through the New Testament. Father's talk was very interesting, and it gave a fuller meaning to this sacred time before Easter, to the students.

The Marian high Mothers' club met Monday evening, April 4. It was decided that the first project of the club would be to provide Marian with a language laboratory—what an asset to Marian!

The mothers will have to work long and hard to get this wonderful laboratory for the high school, but the results will be very gratifying.

Kingswood Column

By JOAN McDONALD

With spring vacation over, newly elected Kingswood officers returned to begin their duties in their new positions. Next year's Student council officers are Joan McDonald, president; Sally Paul, vice president; and Beverly Lee, secretary-treasurer.

The class representatives are: Pat Holt (12), Carolyn Hastings (11), Julie Graham (10), Ann Goddard (9), and Katie Lovett (8).

Gail Burgers was elected Kingswood captain of the Student cabinet which next year will be composed of Carol Yamashita, Chris Norwalk, Anne Buschman, Joan Elmsinger, and Emily Godshalk. The cabinet plans and manages the religious and social events of Kingswood and Cranbrook.

The new Dormitory council president is Rose Mae Corbett. Her council members are Diana Lapp, Martha Schroeder, and Nawal Herady.

Newly elected class presidents are Betty Barbour (12), Mimi McLaughlin (11), Tally Adams (10), Pat Hewitt (9), and Doty Winters (8).

In athletics the team captain has been elected Terry Levan and Mary Wier will be eighth-grade captains of the green and white teams respectively. Eliza Barnard and Kitty Gillen, ninth; Jane Guest and Ann Kyes, tenth; Bobby Lucy and Celia Snyder, eleventh and Carolyn Vogt and Nancy Linn, twelfth.

Of the two senior captains Nancy Linn will be next year's "K" club president and Carolyn Vogt, Athletic council president.

The entire Kingswood Student council is comprised of its officers and class representatives, the heads of the Dormitory council, the Student cabinet, the "K" club, the Study Hall committee, and the Clarion editor. The latter two are yet to be announced.

The annual spring religious conference, sponsored by the Student cabinet, was held April 8.

Representatives of Japanese, Chinese, Indian, and near eastern religions spoke pertaining to the title "The Eastern World: Religion and Changing Cultures." The conference was open to the faculty and juniors and seniors.
