

Congregationalists Call 1st Education Minister

A unanimous vote was cast April 15 to call The Reverend Mead Miner Bailey as the new assistant minister of Christian education at the Congregational Church of Birmingham. Mr. Bailey has served with distinction in a similar capacity at the Congregational Church of Rutland, Vt., for the past two years.

Mr. Bailey grew up in Ithaca, N. Y. He is a graduate of Western Michigan university and attended New York university for graduate work. His first professional experience was with an experimental program of occupational therapy at a New York hospital for teenage drug addicts. From there he moved to another hospital in Jersey City to set up an occupational therapy program.

DURING THESE YEARS in New York, he was active in the Broadway Congregational church in New York City. There he met and married his wife, Gail, a life-long Congregationalist from Connecticut.

They moved to Lancaster, Pa., and for the next three years Mr. Bailey studied at Franklin and Marshall seminary. He was active in the choir, formed a religious theater group, known as The Chancel Players, and was president of the student body.

WHEN HIS COURSE at seminary was completed, Mr. Bailey accepted a call to the Congregational church in Rutland, Vt. His work there has been distinguished in all phases of Christian education. He has enjoyed particular success in drawing young people into the church and has conducted an outstanding program of teacher training and guidance, as well as sharing pastoral duties with the minister.

The Baileys plan to arrive in Birmingham about May 15, accompanied by their 11-month-old daughter, Crandall.

Hillsdale Players Perform April 24 At First Baptist

Six members of the Tower Players, drama group from Hillsdale college, will present a one-act play titled "A Sign Unto You" at the First Baptist church of Birmingham at 5 p.m., April 24.

The half-hour play concerns a well-to-do urban family with a materialistic outlook upon life. The single exception is the son, who is a minister. Through his concern for a homeless waif, ill and friendless, whom he takes into the home, a spiritual awakening of the entire family takes place.

THIS PRESENTATION marks the start of a six-week University of Life at the First Baptist church. Each Sunday evening from April 24 through May 29, there will be programs for young people and adults.

The junior fellowship group (5th and 6th grades) will learn how the Bible can help in daily living. The junior highs (7th, 8th and 9th grades) will be concerned with the topic "What Is Juvenile Delinquency and What Can We Do About It?"

For Senior Highs (10th, 11th and 12th grades) there will be on preparation for a vocation.

THE OLDER YOUTH group (18-25 years) will discuss current problems facing youth. Adults will have an opportunity to engage in a searching biblical study of the meaning and nature of the church.

Rev. William W. Sutterlin, director of Christian education, will be in charge of the University of Life.
