

Local Legionaires Pall Bearers At Nash Funeral

Members of the Charles Edwards post 14 of the American Legion, Birmingham, acted as pall bearers Saturday when George Y. Nash was buried for the second time.

The Edwards post members arranged the funeral after Nash, 66, was refused burial last Wednesday in White Chapel cemetery, Troy, because he was not a Caucasian.

SOME 300 persons gathered at the final rites at Perry Mount Park, Pontiac, including a correspondent for the Soviet newspaper Pravda. Most were fellow Indians and organized veterans. Members of the Sioux, Mohawk, Chippewa, Ottawa and Fox tribes wore colorful ancestral costumes, traditional at tribal funerals.

The burial plot was donated by the American Legion. Nash was a member of all-Indian Army post 50, Detroit. Chaplain Edward J. Paynter of the Legion's 18th Street officiated. He spoke of Nash as a "true American."

3 Teenagers Facing Auto Theft Charge

Three teenage boys were arraigned Monday, Aug. 15, in Southfield before Judge Clarence A. Reid for unlawfully driving away in an auto.

The boys, arrested Ingle Gonzales, 17, 1208 N. Monroe, Bay City; Robert B. Gobel, 17, 148 Wall street, Pontiac; and Paul D. Houghton, 17, 274 Stanfield, Pontiac, pleaded guilty to the thefts.

The boys are being held in Oakland county jail for arraignment in circuit court in Pontiac Aug. 22.

THE BOYS were apprehended by Bloomfield Hills police and state troopers after fleeing into the woods just off W. Hickory Grove road in Bloomfield township.

"I'm all through running," said Houghton after coming out of the woods at W. Long Lake and Hickory. Gobel was apprehended leaving the woods on Laber road.

Commissioner Carl E. Ingraham said the boys were found in the back seat of one of the stolen cars.

Bloomfield Hills officer Creighton Kerr found a 1960 Dodge parked in the woods about 7:30 a.m. Monday. Kerr returned with Capt. Walter Sluiter and they found another car, a 1959 Oldsmobile, was parked behind the Dodge.

"WE SAW two boys running from the woods from the Dodge," said Sluiter. They evidently intended to strip the cars, he said.

The Dodge was stolen from Charles E. Jones and the Oldsmobile from Charles Palmer, both of Southfield.

Rec Board Irons Out New Budget

The Birmingham recreation board today got its 1960-61 budget squared away as recreation director Don Martin's revised budget approved by the city commission and school board this week.

The city will cover $37,916 and the board $28,075 of the new $101,919 budget. The other $34,327 needed will come from $29,086 receipts from recreation fees and charges with the remaining $2,321 taken from last year's surplus fund.

This will leave the 1959-60 surplus of $10,177.92 with a balance of $7,850.92, $6,694.50 of which will be used to repay last year's debt to the city with the remaining surplus of $656.42 carried over to this year's surplus.

OTHER RECREATION board business last Thursday included discussion of the joint meeting of the board and recreation board Aug. 18 to decide the use of the sewage treatment plant property. The board approved request by the planning board for a tour of recreation facilities before the meeting comes up.

Recreation director Don Martin was authorized to attend the National Recreation Congress Sept. 24-29 in Washington, D.C. Theme of this year's congress will be personnel administration.

A motion was carried to recommend to the city commission that a bunker hill climber, to be donated by the Pembroke Manor association, be accepted and placed in Pembroke park.

The board also passed a resolution honoring the work of William Spence, former member and chairman of the recreation board.

Forest Avenue Sewer Hearing Is Adjourned

City Commissioner Lance C. Minor threw something of a hiccup in the works being construction of the Forest avenue sewer from Elm street to a point about 170 feet east of Elm.

Minor cast the only negative vote on a motion Monday night in Birmingham commission meeting to confirm the roll, in two payments, for the sewer.

To pass, the motion required five affirmative votes—and there were only two present.

Absent were Mayor Florence (Mrs. G. Howard) Willett and Commissioner Harry M. Denyes.

Before the meeting concluded the commissioners brought the matter up again and voted to adjourn the hearing until next week. This time, Minor cast the only "no" vote.

COMMISSIONER CARL E. Ingraham, emphasizing that a health reason was involved, led efforts to keep the sewer project alive.

Commissioner Carl E. Ingraham made legal questions involving possible reconsideration or referral back to the city assessor's office.

Plans call for construction of a 12-inch sewer to serve three lots on both the north and south sides of Forest east of Elm.

The sewer started Monday when Henry L. Woolfenden, who is mayor of Bloomfield Hills but who is not on the city commission, opined that the assessment of property owners was not equitable.

Woolfenden said the three lots on the north side of the street are zoned residential and a commercial building has been erected on one of the lots.

REQUIREMENTS ARE greater for commercial usage than for single residential, he claimed. Therefore, he felt the owners on the commercial side should bear a larger share of the assessment.

Overall cost of the project was estimated at $2250, with the city share set at $570 and the property owners at $1679. It was pointed out that the sewer installation cost less than $200 per owner in two installments.

Woolfenden also stated that it was his understanding when he discussed the project with the city manager, that the sewer would be eight inches.

He called the proposal for a 12-inch sewer "incredible."

"I don't know why these six projects would have to bear this assessment," he stated.

CITY ENGINEER William Killen explained that the Forest avenue sewer is part of a larger program, thus the need for a 12-inch pipe.

Pointing out that Forest is a public street, Woolfenden contended that a city responsibility was involved rather than that of the property owners.

When Commissioner William H. Ingram pointed out that the city is sharing 55 percent of the cost, Woolfenden agreed that this was "a reasonable approach to the matter."

Oct. 8 Toothbrush Sale OK'd by City

The Exchange Club of Birmingham received approval from the city commission Monday night to stage its annual toothbrush street sale on Saturday, Oct. 8.

In event of rain, the sale will be held the following Saturday, Oct. 15.

Funds derived from the sale will be used for donations to Camp Oakland, Birmingham Civil Air Patrol cadets, Birmingham teenage traffic club and clinic and other needy youth activities.

We Heard It Said By: HERBERT G. SNELLINGS

"During our nation's widespread building program, especially as it relates to industrial and office construction, quite a number of projects have been plagued with the collapse of all or part of some structure. This is due to improper planning or faulty supervision during construction. Certainly, the wise use of available engineering talent in construction projects is of value to an owner."

"Don't become so enamored of that paycheck that you fail to return to school this fall and complete your education," the U. S. Department of Labor is reminding high school youths who have vacation jobs. Young people who drop out of school before graduation have a harder time finding jobs, suffer more prolonged periods of unemployment, are paid less, and are more likely to be laid off than their friends who finish school.

Troy Schools Seek Renewal Of Tax Levy

TROY—An eight-mill operational tax levy will be put before Troy voters in a special school election Oct. 3. The issue was defeated June 23.

The millage renewal proposition was in effect for a year and would have continued for five more if it had been approved by the electorate on the June ballot.

THE BOARD of education now seeks renewal of the tax levy for only three years beginning in the 1961-62 fiscal year and ending in 1963-64.

The millage is needed to help pay a deficit of $60,000 this year and to meet rising costs on school buses. It would also provide for new classrooms in 1961, according to school officials.

One Writer To Another: I Like It!

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following poem was written by a reader of The Birmingham Eccentric after reading in last week's issue Managing Editor George William Averill's column, "One Thing Or Another." In that column Averill presented humorous answers to some of the most frequent questions asked of newspaper editors.

WIT REVEALED

"Once upon a short time ago" there was an Editor who discovered (all by himself, or did he have help?) That he had hidden up his typewriter keys

Wit! It does seem, reading through his recent written lines, That a lot of people have, over a period of time, Asked him a lot of straight forward questions.

He, being a guy without much guile, decided that he would be answered (the people who had been bombarding him with questions) Dropping all "editorial lingo," he answered in the vernacular. He tried his best, all through his theme, to stick to the truth. (And anyone knows that if a person resorts to this kind of writing, a lot of people's tender feelings will be hurt) He didn't care, he knew what he had to do.

And he did it!

What kind of reading did it make when it came out in print? Delightful thoughts.

Why? "Care" for moment, a man was unafraid to speak plainly what lay on his mind—and he got that too much anymore.

But it read real good.

The question reads: Editor! Might not we be able, perhaps, to take more of this kind of style?

For myself, I love it!

Please go on, anytime!

Experimental Course In Biology Slated At Groves School

A ninth grade experimental biology course will be offered this year for students at Wylie E. Groves school.

The pilot section for capable students will be an alternative course for general science.

THE PILOT STUDY will be evaluated at the end of the year, using objective and subjective means with 10th grade biology as the control group at the senior high school.

Should such a program be adopted, it would be established at Barnum and Derby junior high schools in 1961.

Mr. Woolfenden's request for a different kind of assessment procedure, I so move," Minor said.

Then he went on to say, "I don't like this double talk. I want facts... reports predicated on facts... not hearsay."

Denyes supported the motion, but Minor withdrew it after Ingraham said he could see no purpose in asking the city administration to furnish the commission with information which it had previously furnished.

"I AM personally satisfied with the benefits as reported here tonight," Ingraham stated.

After all other matters on the agenda were dispersed with, Ingraham again brought up the Forest avenue sewer.

"We still have a health problem on Forest. We have got to solve that problem out there," he told the other commissioners.

Then he asked Woolfenden if he still would object to an assessment of less than $300.

Woolfenden said the health problem was of "transcendent importance" and added that he hoped his action hadn't resulted in the elimination of the program of cleaning up the health problem.

"I would hate to see the program abandoned," he stated.

The commission then voted to adjourn the hearing for one week.
