Hathaway's
 incomparable white Oxford

OXFORD is a classic shirting. Hathaway handles it with the respect it deserves. You get single-needle stitching that is scarcely visible. Manly, squared-off cuffs. Buttons the size buttons ought to be—big enough to handle. And Hathaway's generous tails, famous because they stay in your trousers.
 The result is the consummate white Oxford button-down. How's your supply? $6.95

It's Time to Clown Around

Circus in town? No, it's just (1. to L.) Leslie Townsend, 2406 W. Webster, Royal Oak, Peggy Fournier, 6085 Kennesaw, Birmingham, and Barb Matthews, 185 Hilldale, Detroit, showing off their colorful costumes at the Red Run kids day party last Thursday held at the country club.

Brazil, Nice Place for a Summer Trip

Three Southfield teenagers appeared on television and before capacity crowds at a mattress factory, a boys' school and a shelter for abandoned children in Latin America this summer.
 They are among 69 high school choristers from 38 cities in Michigan who toured South America this summer with the Michigan Chorale.
 The Chorale, part of a larger program known as Youth for Understanding, is sponsored by the Michigan council of churches and administered by the Ann Arbor-Washtenaw Council of churches.
 The three Southfield students are Helen Schoenhals, 2075 Lahser, Darwin Muir, 2357 Plum Hollow drive and David Ross, 2520 Southfield road.
 The Chorale's six-week tour of seven Latin American countries began in Bogota on July 1, and took the students as far south as Chile.
 Throughout the tour the group has been under scrutiny of the South American press and has been highly praised in many ways.
 A leading Peruvian newspaper said "the Chorale members must have more than musical talent—they have scholarship, personality, leadership ability, etc., and that they represent 50,000 Michigan students."
 Another paper commented on the fact that "many of them (members of the Chorale) have earned part of their expense money for the trip."
 "In fact," said the Ann Arbor-Washtenaw Council of Churches, "it is obvious from all reports that our Michigan young people are making a lasting impression on our Latin neighbors."
 The chorale has presented serious concerts including compositions by Bach and Beethoven, as well as several North American composers, and lighter programs featuring folk music and numbers from Broadway musicals.
 Critics throughout the areas visited have praised the quality of the music with statements like, "An excellent testimony of artistic education in the United States."
 During the tour, the students reside at private homes in the different cities. When it comes time to leave an area and move on to a new city, the students report it is very hard to leave their "foster parents," and their many new friends.
 Most of the families feel the same way, according to Rachel Anderson, executive director of the Ann Arbor-Washtenaw council of churches.
 "Many families have come to me personally to tell me... how different they (the students) are from what they read about American teenagers in the papers and how they are so sorry to have them leave," said Mrs. Anderson.
 According to Leslie Muir, of the Southfield schools, the Chorale will present a concert at 3 p.m. on Sept. 11 in Hill Auditorium, Ann Arbor, upon returning from the tour.
 This will be a benefit concert to help defray some of the extra expenses of the trip.
 Mrs. Muir said that she hoped for a large crowd at the program.
 "If our American youth can sing to capacity crowds of 7,000 to 10,000 in South America, why can't we fill Hill Auditorium."

Birmingham - Bloomfield Hills Society Notes

News from this column may be phoned to Mrs. Waltz at MI 6-1914

A GOODLY NUMBER of those enviable tans you're seeing around Birmingham these days are being dosed daily at the Birmingham Athletic club.

And no wonder! With that big blue pool for dipping—and that high grey cool deck for sunning—and that big most of the BAC sun now is being picked up on and around the tennis courts.
 The annual club tournament is under way. And Sunday is the day of the final.

SOME OF THOSE you'll see warming up are Jim and Lucy Dusen, Barbara and Dick Van Hart, Ann Holmes, Pat and Tom Hart, Dottie and Chuck Duryea, Barbara, Bill, Beel, Kurt and Pete Lovett, Bill, Hoffman, and Jo and Frank Murphy.

And some of the younger players—Bobby and Jimmy Faught and Chip Beel.

Bob Faught is chairman of the tennis committee, which includes also Ann Holmes, Barbara Hoffman, Joan Hanson, Tom Hart and Frank Murphy.
LAST YEAR'S mixed doubles winners, Charlie and Linda Lynch, are in the process of moving to Wilmington, Delaware. Charlie also won the men's singles and the men's doubles, with Dick Van Dusen—so the 1960 finals are wide open for some new champions.
 Other winners last year were Ann Holmes, Barbara Hoffman, Linda Lynch and Winnie Green, ladies' doubles.
 In the junior singles George Wills dined in the club, and Bobby Faught the "12 and unders".

Tennis Anyone?

"Anyone for tennis?" will be the big BAC question addressed to tennis lovers everywhere come August 27 and 28.
 That's the beginning date of the BAC Men's Guest Men's and women's Doubles Championship. It will conclude the following weekend, September 3, 4 and 5.
 Best players from all around will be invited to participate. They will be paired with club members, with appropriate handicaps.
 Sanctioned by the U. S. Lawn Tennis Association, this tournament is planned as an annual affair. And it's an important "step" for this area as well as for the BAC.

Out-of-State Visitors

And speaking of going and coming—we've been especially interested in certain of our Birmingham visitors during the past few weeks.
 They've been headquartered in the Waltz house.
 Mr. and Mrs. William Frey and son Michael were here from Puerto Rico. Mr. Frey originally is from North Haven, Michigan, and his wife, Jane, from Orlando, Florida.
 It was delightful listening to Michael—a charming three-year-old towhead—sput forth in fine Spanish. He was born in Bogota, Colombia, and now goes to a Spanish-speaking nursery school in San Juan.

 and go back with him for a visit to Butzbach home on Lake Michigan.
 AND THAT WILL be the beginning of a writing-rest for your correspondent.
 We've loved being your listening ear.
 We've even liked traipsing madly every Monday over to the Eccentric—wearing, wearing children and busy week-ends notwithstanding—with a recording of your fun, fanciful, feelings, followings and sometimes follies (by permission of course) tucked in our fat little portfolios.
 Now, however, we find our time will stretch no more. So, with regret, and with many thanks to Julie, Shirley, Bill and all our other good friends at the B. E.—with this column were signing off.
 'Bye now!"

Island Hideaway

On the "going and coming" list are the Grover Fairbanks of Buckingham road, with a late summer vacation in mind.
 They'll be leaving tomorrow—with Pat and Stege—for Lake Vermillion, Minnesota, where Mrs. Fairbanks' sister and brother-in-law, the Robert Katcheras, have a summer home.
 It's located on an island in a lovely, resplendent setting, perfect for a peaceful week or two.

Gluckstad, Littig Exchange Vows

Mary Jo Carole Gluckstad, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gluckstad of 2811 Farmingdale drive, Bloomfield township, and James Michael Littig, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Littig, Rock Island, Ill., were united in marriage Saturday at the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer in Birmingham. Pastor Wuggazer officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her mother and father, wore a floor length gown of bouquet taffeta with a bateau neckline. Soft plaits in back flowed into a cathedral length train. The dress was trimmed in appliques of embroidered alencon lace. Within each applique were handmade petals of bouquet taffeta.

A SWEDISH PEARL crown secured a three tiered English illusion veil and the bride carried a bouquet of Eucharist lilies centered with a white orchid.
 Mrs. Diane Brown, the honor attendant, of Lombard, Ill., wore a dress of silk organza over silk taffeta with a Dior bow and veil headpiece. She carried a bouquet of Gladioli of Salal with a center of pink Aristocrat roses.

The attendants, Carl Shannon of Hooper, Ind., Ellen Abrahamson of Evanston, Ill., and Anne Lathmar of Davenport, Iowa, wore gowns of Moss green silk organza over silk taffeta with matching Dior bows and veil and carried bouquets of pink tea roses.

THE GROOM'S BROTHER, Jon P. Littig, of Rock Island, stood as best man and Tom Anderson, Jerry Lundeen and James Sundquist, all of Rock Island also, acted as ushers.
 For her wedding trip, the bride wore a flowered silk sheath with black accessories. Following the BAC honeymoon the couple will reside in Island, Hazel Park.
 For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Gluckstad wore a rose colored chiffon sheath with matching shoes and had carried a white orchid on her purse.
 The groom's mother, Mrs. Littig, chose a light green silk linen sheath with matching shoes and hat and wore a white orchid.
 The couple are both graduates of the Augustana college in Rock Island.
