Musical's Christmas Program

"Music for Christmas" will be the theme of the concert presented for members and guests by the Birmingham Musical Society today at the Birmingham community house. Mrs. Louis M. Randall, Jr. is chairman of the day.

Under the baton of their director, Alice Engram, the club's choral ensemble will open and close the program. "Trepak" by Peter Tchaikovsky will be included in the first group performed. The Choral Ensemble's final group will consist of old folk songs arranged to tell the Christmas story.

MRS. FRANK Finney, narrator, will use Bible passages to tie together the musical numbers telling the story. Nine chorus members will have solo parts and Nancy Kasperak will accompany the chorus on the flute in one selection.

Mrs. Phillip Wheeler, piano accompanist for the chorus, sang with the chorus until she agreed to be their accompanist this year. Her musical training was obtained in her home town of Cleveland, Ohio, and at the University of Michigan school of music. Mrs. Glenn Hill, who accompanied the organ, was choir director and organist at Boulevard Congregational church in Detroit for many years. Currently she is organist at Central Woodward Christian church in Detroit.

MRS. LOUIS Brugman, solo harpist, will highlight the afternoon by performing between the choral groups. Her last number will feature a melody from Victor Herbert's "Toyland" and "Lullaby" by Johannes Brahms. Mrs. Brugman is also well known in Birmingham circles as an organist although her "first love" was and is the harp.

Mrs. Charles Davison, chairman, and her hospitality committee consisting of Mrs. W. Clifton Randall, Mrs. Chester B. McCormick and Mrs. Ralph Hunt will welcome members and guests attending the concert.

Mrs. H. S. McFarland, chairman of the Tea which will follow the musical program will be assisted by Madames Barba Bartlett, Hayward Berg, James Bradburn Cowden Fortenbaugh, Ralph Fox, Crockett Harrison, Charles Huxenake, Roland King, Walter Mackenzie, John Mitchell, John Randall, A. G. Ruppel, Miles Walter and C. W. Whaling.
