Women's Club Meets For Annual Party

Highlighting the party was the presentation of an honorary life membership to Mrs. Ross Banker Jennie, as she is called by her many friends, is a charter member of the club and was instrumental in its organization. She served as club president in 1949-50.

Her home has been the meeting place for many of the annual summer picnics sponsored by the club and for bridge parties and teas.

She is active in Women's Club projects, and has worked tirelessly for civic improvements. Through her efforts Walnut Lake and Inkster Rds. were paved.

She is a member and leader in the horticultural therapy group, whose weekly visits bring enjoyment to patients at Pontiac State Hospital.

The party ended with a carol songfest with Mrs. John Phelps at the piano.

Against background scenery depicting the town of Bethlehem, children of the Walnut Lake School will sing a group of religious Christmas songs to entertain their parents at the PTA meeting Monday.

The audience will view the program through a large bell-shaped window, placed at the front of the stage. Costumed children, representing all grades, will act out the meaning of the songs as they sing.

Margaret Phillips, kindergarten teacher, is in charge of the program; Miss Marilyn Rowlow will handle scenes and costumes and Miss Phyllis Gardner, music.

Games, songs, gift exchange and refreshments were the format for Christmas parties enjoyed by three Walnut Lake Girl Scout troops this week.

Mrs. Michael Lukon was hostess to the girls of Troop 375, Monday at her home on Meadowdale. Mrs. Ray Marlin is leader of the troop.

Troop 938 and its leader, Mrs. Robert Raus, entertained at the home of assistant leader Mrs. How-
