Offers 'Soviet Survey' Here

A "Survey of the Soviet Union" is being offered from 7 to 10 p.m. Mondays this spring semester at Cranbrook by the University of Michigan Extension service. The 10-week course can be taken as either a credit or a non-credit course, according to Extension Service Supervisor Ardell A. Henry.

BECAUSE OF the timeliness of the course, Henry said, "special arrangements have been made to permit those who do not wish credit to hear the lectures that are of interest to them."

Students may register at the first session. THE COURSE includes: Feb. 15—Geography of the Soviet Union; Feb. 22—Peoples of the Soviet Union; Feb. 29—Russian and Soviet History; the 20th Century; March 7—The Soviet System: Ideology and Communist Party Organization; March 14—The Government and Administration of the Soviet Union; March 21—The Economics of the Soviet System; April 4—Soviet Society: Religion, Education and Family Life; April 11—Russian and Soviet Literature: From the Golden Age to the Soviet Writer; April 18—Soviet Culture; April 25—USSR Foreign Relations; May 2—Final exam for credit students.

Home-Made Sausage
In the 1880's, here in Birmingham, a sausage made by Alex. Parks, a local butcher, became a famous staple. Through an unbroken line of successful butchers this farm-style sausage has been made here, according to the original formula.

Stuffed Pork Chops
Our skilled butchers take an extra large pork chop, trim away the excess fat and with a surgeon's skill create a generous pocket. Into this is stuffed our secret, herb-seasoned dressing. Baked, these pork chops absorb the flavor of the sage and other herbs.

Breaded Pork Chops
Here is the secret of their success: our butchers select choice, lean chops, bone them, cube them and coat them with bread crumbs. Fry to a golden brown, or bake.

Delicious Ham Loaf
We take choice ham and fresh pork and grind them to a fine consistency, then add fresh eggs, whole milk and bread crumbs. The mixture is further distinguished by our formula of spices, and blended, all ready for your love.

Ham Salad
A fine-cut blend of ham, pineapple and spices, ready to use as a sandwich spread. Also ideal for hors d'oeuvres.

Some New Wrinkles In Driver Training

Members of the local police departments and school officials took a new kind of driving test Feb. 5, without leaving their meeting room.

The test was the latest development in a new approach to driver training being worked out by Shell Oil company and New York University's Center for safety education.

The new technique, designed for classroom use, helps drivers sharpen their ability to perceive traffic hazards and take corrective action soon enough to avoid an accident.

Each of the training aids is a film-strip consisting of a series of color photographs showing traffic situations involving hazards.
